Youth Job Bill Faces Hard Going

Dems Claim Votes There to Pass It

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's youth employment bill faces stiff and possibly prolonged Republican opposition in the Senate today but Democrats claimed the votes to pass it if they can get to a final roll call.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield called his colleagues in two hours early and promised a night session if necessary to get action.

Mansfield said he was determined to pass the high-priority administration measure before an unofficial Easter recess begins Thursday night.

Plan Amendments

However, Sen. Winston L. Prouty, R-Vt., quarterbacking the Republican opposition to the legislation, declared he would have a lot to say about the bill and that his GOP colleagues would propose numerous amendments.

Prouty declined Mansfield's bid to put into effect a debate limitation agreement—the usual way to speed floor action. This requires unanimous consent.

Kennedy proposed the bill when Congress met in January as a partial solution to one of the nation's severe problems—the high rate of unemployment among youths in the 16-21 age bracket. About 700,000 of these were out of school and out of work last year.

Two Operating Systems

The measure would operate through two programs—a federal youth conservation corps and a hometown public service corps.

The bill survived the first Republican move Tuesday, an attempt by Prouty to shunt it to the interior committee for as much as three weeks.

This was beaten 58 to 29 but it did not necessarily indicate eventual passage. Several Southern Democrats who voted against the move said they still would oppose the measure.

Then, apparently hoping to pick up a few votes, Sens. William Proxmire, D-Wis., and Stuart Symington, D-Mo., proposed a $20-million cut in the first-year authorization of $120 million. This easily carried 65-21.

The administration had announced that, in any event, it planned to ask only for $100 million for the initial year of the program.

Bomb Traced to Captain

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—A bomb that exploded in a San Francisco, Calif., post office March 18 injuring a clerk, has been traced to a U.S. Army captain in South Viet Nam.

The captain, stationed in Saigon, had packaged an explosive device and sent it to his wife through the Army post office system.

The officer is scheduled to be taken back to the United States to be placed in a mental institution.

Identification of the officer was not announced immediately.

Library to Close

The Kingston City Library will close at noon on Good Friday and remain so for the rest of the day.

City Judge Has Acting Clerk for Court Sessions

Mrs. Maryann Williams, of 91 First Avenue, has been named acting clerk of City Court effective April 8, to take the place of Mrs. James (Helen C.) Kelly, who has been granted a year's leave of absence.

City Judge Joseph D. Saccoman said Mrs. Kelly's leave is effective Aril 19. However, he said she is currently on vacation, and Mrs. Williams is performing the clerk's duties.

A graduate of Kingston High School, Mrs. Williams was formerly employed at Island Dock Lumber Inc.

Today Is Anniversary of 'Big Steel' Battle

Businessmen Accept Peace Offers But Keep a Wary Eye on Horizon

WASHINGTON (AP) — The wounds from the "Big Steel battle" were deep and the stitches still show.

While businessmen have gingerly accepted the Kennedy administration's peace offerings, they keep a wary eye on the smoke signals.

Tuesday night, on the eve of the first anniversary of the clash over steel prices, there was a new puff on the horizon. Wheeling Steel Corp. announced it will raise, as of today, the price of several of its steel products.

There was no reaction from the White House.

Repairs Relations

Since that furious struggle a year ago, President Kennedy has gone far toward repairing his relations with business — although he'll never turn Wall Street into a Democratic precinct, and never expected to.

Many industrialists who now are cashing in on the $2.5 billion of benefits from Kennedy's 1962 tax program—benefits that went to business exclusively—do admit nowadays that he can't be all bad.

President Ladd Plumley of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce told The Associated Press that Kennedy showed "manifest interest in the private sector of our economy" after the steel blow-up.

But he made it clear that there is no second honeymoon for Kennedy and business.

Too Little, Too Long

The patching-up of relations began to come unstuck in January, Plumley said, because of Kennedy's big spending budget, the costly dock strike settlement, and what Plumley called a hodgepodge tax reduction plan whose business benefits, in his opinion, are too little and too long deferred.

The U.S. chamber leader added: "The President said this was not the winter of his discontent. For businessmen, it has been the winter of our disappointment."

Plumley's disappointment is matched in other, and more surprising, quarters. Kennedy's good friends in organized labor have grown restive about what they consider his preoccupation with profits, incentives and investment.

Aides Restless

Some administration aides, eager for more works, welfare and education programs, have had to be cooled off with the promise that Kennedy will get around to their causes after he "gets the country moving again."

Roger M. Blough, board chairman of the United States Steel Corp., ran afoul of Kennedy's wrath April 10, 1962, when he dropped into the White House to announce a $6 a ton increase in the price of steel.

The increase came on the heels of the smallest wage settlement the United Steelworkers Union had signed in years and after Kennedy made personal pleas to both sides to hold the wage and price lines. Other leading steelmakers quickly upped their prices to match "Big Steel."

The outraged Kennedy countered with a public denunciation of what he called their "unjustifiable and irresponsible defiance of the public interest." He mobilized an awesome array of government pressures, including the threat of antitrust action and the withholding of government contracts.

In 72 hours the once-solid front of the steel titans caved in. Two important producers, Inland and Kaiser, refused to join the price parade. The industry leaders were forced to rescind.

Two Women Held For Burglary at Reis Liquor Store

Two women, who police say were arrested in the course of burglarizing a Broadway liquor store late Tuesday night, were arraigned today in City Court on felony charges of third degree burglary.

They are Miss Joan Carter Swart, 20, of 246 West Chestnut Street, and Mrs. Ada Mae Gilchrist, 18, of 25 Philips Avenue, Highland.

Special City Judge Hugh R. Elwyn deferred their cases to Friday in order for them to obtain counsel. Unable to post $500 cash or $1,000 property bond for bail the defendants were remanded to the county jail.

Sergeant Thomas Tomshaw, who made the arrests, said Miss Swart and Mrs. Gilchrist allegedly burglarized the Reis Liquor Store at 367 Broadway opposite Foxhall Avenue about 10:30 Tuesday night.

Got Phone Tip

He said that police received a telephone call from an unidentified male about 10:35 p. m. that two women were trying to break into the liquor store. A detail was sent and the arrests were made.

According to police, Miss Swart wrapped a scarf around her hand and broke a rear window to steal a quart of liquor. They said Mrs. Gilchrist aided and abetted Miss Swart by lending her the scarf.

Detectives Guernsey Burger and Albert Hutton Jr., and Patrolmen Louis Sapp and Frank Kennelly Jr., participated in the investigation.

Other Cases

In other City Court cases:

Judge Elwyn suspended imposition of a six-month jail sentence on Joseph Betley, 53, of 134 Third Avenue, who admitted a third-degree assault charge preferred by his wife.

Elwyn also placed Betley on probation for one year. The case had been referred to City Court from Family Court for disposition.

Louis Marello Jr., 25, of 304 Clinton Avenue, paid a $5 fine when he admitted driving an uninspected motor vehicle. The charge was preferred by Patrolman Thomas Coffey on April 9.

Churchill Is Moved by U. S. Honor

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sir Winston Churchill stands alone among all men as an honorary citizen of the United States.

Now in the evening of a great career, the 88-year-old Briton took an unprecedented stride into history when President Kennedy signed a proclamation Tuesday. It made him the first person ever to become an honorary American citizen.

In the President's view, it was something more than a reciprocal arrangement.

Name Is Legend

"By adding his name to our rolls," he said, "we mean to honor him—but his acceptance honors us far more. For no statement or proclamation can enrich his name now — the name Sir Winston Churchill is already legend."

In the view of the man who was prime minister in Britain's most dangerous days, the acclaim of this "mighty and benevolent nation" underscored the unity of the English-speaking peoples.

"In this century of storm and tragedy," he said in a message to Kennedy, "I contemplate with high satisfaction the constant factor of the interwoven and upward progress of our peoples. Our comradeship and our brotherhood in war were unexampled. We stood together, and because of that fact the free world now stands."

Deeply Moved

Churchill's words of gratitude for a great tribute were read by his son, Randolph. The grand old statesman was watching. Live television using an orbiting satellite as a relay point brought the scene into his London residence with exceptional clarity. A household spokesman said, "Sir Winston was deeply moved. He retired immediately after the broadcast."

It was sad that Churchill's years and dwindling energy kept him home during the ceremony at the White House. Many times past he had been there on missions vital to war and peace.

Now it was denied him to be there once more, among associates and admirers assembled on the brilliant green lawn of the Rose Garden, wet with a shower that had passed.

Talks Due On Canada Top Office

Diefenbaker May Try to Keep Post

TORONTO (AP)—Prime Minister John G. Diefenbaker flies to Ottawa today for talks that should determine whether he will try to remain in office despite the Liberal party victory in Monday's election.

The 67-year-old Conservative leader called a meeting Thursday of his lame duck Cabinet to consider the question.

He is expected to confer with leaders of the Social Credit and New Democratic parties to see whether they would support him if he decides to stay on. He would need the backing of both.

Will Wait for Vote

He probably will not announce his decision until the armed forces vote is tabulated. That may be another week. Liberal Leader Lester B. Pearson is ready to form a government if and when Diefenbaker steps down.

The Liberals won the largest number of seats in the House of Commons but fell five short of a majority. They caputred 128 of the 265 seats and the Conservatives took 96. The remainder were divided among the smaller parties—24 to Social Credit and 17 to the New Democrats.

Could Pick Up Seats

The Liberals could pick up two or three additional seats when the service votes are all in, but there is only the remotest possibility they could get the 133 needed to give them a majority.

Under a precedent established by the late W. L. Mackenzie King, Diefenbaker could continue as prime minister without having the largest party in Commons but it would be ncessary for him to have support from other parties. It is customary for the leader of the largest party to form the government.

NYC Must Keep Rhinecliff Depot Open and Attended

ALBANY — The Public Service Commission today denied the petition of New York Central Railroad for permission to substitute an unattended track-side shelter for its passenger depot at Rhinecliff, Dutchess County.

By this action, the Commission reaffirmed its 1960 order which requires the railroad to keep its waiting room open under supervision of competent personnel for the convenience of passengers for a reasonable time before the scheduled arrival and after the actual departure of trains which stop there. The station is now open and manned from 5 :40 until 9:40 p. m. daily.

Change in Freight Order

The Commission ruled, however, that the railroad may transfer supervision over freight business at Rhinecliff to its agent at Hudson subject to a requirement that it continue the handling of carload freight shipments on local sidings and the pick - up - and - delivery of less than-carload freight in the Rhinecliff area by truck. In addition, it must accept collect telephone calls made to the

Speakers' Bureau Established

Kingston Chamber Has $20,500-a-Year Budget

A tentative budget of $20,500 for 1963-64 was approved at a meeting of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce board of directors last night. A Speakers' Bureau was established which is now ready to accept invitations to speak before any area group on the subject, "How Does Our Comunity Score?"

Sam Pepper, immediate past president of Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce and currently chairman of the Job Expansion Committee, outlined the material which will be presented in whole or in part depending on the time allowed on any program.

John F. Schuehler, chairman of the Chamber's Membership Committee outlined plans for a one-day drive for new members on April 30. The fiscal or budget year starts on May 1. The budget of $20,500 will require a net increase of about 80 memberships over the 1962-63 paid total of 506. It is hoped to account for the additional memberships by some members, already subscribing for one or more memberships, to increase their support and by enrolling new members.

To Check on Bridge

The State Legislative Affairs Committee was asked to check into the proposed closing of the Route 9W Rondout Creek bridge for repairs. Possible procedures to prevent the complete closing of this important approach to Kingston will be given special consideration.

Plans for the next Community Breakfast, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, on April 24 were also announced. All members are invited and urged to bring prospective members along as guests.

The resignation of John W. Egbert as a director was accepted with extreme regret. Ronald G. Drowns, manager of the Governor Clinton Hotel, was named to fill the vacancy thus created. Egbert moved to Albany to accept a position at the regional office of the New York Telephone Company. He had been district manager with offices in Kingston.

Bill Is Opposed

Clifford Henze, chairman of the National Legislative Affairs Committee, reported. This committee recommended opposition to the bill S-6 in Washington, known as the Mass Transportation Subsidy bill. The recommendation was approved.

President Rigby who presided at this meeting of the board of directors suggested that all present, who have not done so, register for the National Security Seminar here on May 6-17 and urge others to do likewise. The next regular directors' meeting will take place on May 14.

Strike May Idle 20,000 on State Building Jobs

UTICA, N.Y. (AP)—A strike by Teamsters and laborers against Upstate oncsup rottteoirnsccj—Upstate construction projects costing millions of dollars threatened today to idle 20,000 workers from Rochester to Poughkeepsie.

The two unions ordered the strike Tuesday after negotiations with contractors collapsed.

Negotiators reportedly were deadlocked over wages and other issues.

No Talks Scheduled

The strike call went out at the expiration of a 10-day extension of the strike deadline that had been agreed to by negotiators for both sides.

The bargaining broke off Tuesday and no new talks were scheduled.

Rocco DePerno, president of the State Teamsters Council, accused negotiators for the Associated General Contractors, representing employers, of "bad faith" and "arrogance" in the negotiations.

Despite the 10 - day no-strike agreement, picketing had begun at 25 projects in scattered areas

3-Nation Group for Peace Talk

Fighting Eases, Attache Reports

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — The three-nation International Control Commission flew to the Plaine des Jarres today in an effort to bring peace between neutralist and pro-Communist forces which have been fighting there for the past 10 days.

The commission's trip was part of a diplomatic campaign to restore peace in the area which the United States regards as a prime testing ground of the oft-proclaimed Soviet policy of peaceful coexistence.

Show of Warning

A Southeast Asia Treaty Organization show of force also was scheduled as a warning to the pro-Communist Pathet Lao faction that is threatening to fan the flames of civil war again.

The control commission's Indian, Canadian and Polish members planned to stay only a few hours at the trouble scene 120 miles northeast of Vientiane since the Pathet Lao has refused to permit establishment of a permanent truce team there. The mediators hoped to arrange a peace meeting between neutralist Gen. Kong Le and the Pathet Lao military chief, Gen. Singkapo.

A commission attache made a fast trip to the Plaine Tuesday and reported that the fighting between neutralist and Pathet Lao forces had quited down.

The commission plans to send a representative to the Plaine daily in an effort to prevent further outbreaks.

Forced Retreat

Repeated Pathet Lao attacks in the past 10 days forced neutralist troops of Gen. Kong Le to withdraw from the town of Xieng Khouang and retreat to the Plaine de Jarres, 120 miles north of Vientiane. The Pathet Lao already controls most of northern Laos. Neutralist and right-wing circles fear they may be getting ready to extend their hold.

A full-scale campaign by the Pathet Lao probably would mean a quick Red victory—rather than a long war on the Viet Nam pattern—unless the United States and its SEATO allies intervene with large numbers of their own troops. The civil war which ended last year demonstrated that the right-wing army of Gen. Phoumi Nosavan was no match for the Pathet Lao. Resistance by Kong Le's badly outnumbered neutralist troops probably would be short.

Meeting in Paris, the eight SEATO allies made plans for a

150 Students Are In Protest March For School Leader

Approximately 150 students Tuesday night marched through the streets at Highland, protesting in an orderly manner, the decision of the Central School District Board of Education to ask for the resignation of John E. Arena, vice principal of the junior-senior high school on Pancake Hollow Road.

Richard Nardone, a junior, said today that despite the suggestion of Arena to discontinue further demonstrations, the students will continue them until the Board of Education meeting Thursday night.

According to reports from Highland, State troopers were in the area during last night's parade and which reportedly was orderly.

Charles Andola, board president, said yesterday the board had asked Arena to resign. He said it was the consensus of the board not to renew the vice principal's contract, after the matter was given "careful consideration."

Arena contended that charges allegedly made by Principal Hubert Perkins at an executive session of the school board were unfounded, and explained there is a difference of opinion between him and the principal of the school.

After a student demonstration Monday noon, Arena urged students in a talk over the intercommunication system to continue their school work without interuption.

Arena said he will attend the school board meeting at 7:30 p. m. Thursday to get an explanation why he did not receive a new contract.

Charges Destroyed Tapes Would Benefit Mitchell

NEW YORK (AP)—The attorney for alleged bribe - solicitor Joseph M. Mitchell contends that a chief state witness purposely destroyed tape recordings of his conversations with the defendant because they would have been beneficial to Mitchell's defense.

But the witness, Stephen Wahrhaftig, vehemently denied the contention by defense attorney William P. Maloney. He insisted Tuesday that his recording machine failed to work on the two occasions which he tried to tape the Newburgh City Manager's voice.

Mitchell is on trial in State Supreme Court on charges that he conspired with co-defendant Lawrence J. De Masi Jr. to get $20,000 from Wahrhaftig and his twin brother, Joseph.

The prosecution contends the money was a bribe to get a parcel of Newburgh land rezoned for a housing development that the 55-year-old Monticello twins wanted to build.

Joseph Wahrhaftig, testifying after his brother, said Mitchell steered him to De Masi, a Hillsdale, N.J., real estate man, as the "middle man" in the alleged payoff.

Asked whether there was a conversation in which Mitchell allegedly said to the brothers, "don't pay De Masi too much," Joseph Wahrhaftig replied:

"Yes, I believe there was."

De Masi was arrested last Dec. 7 by detectives from the Manhattan Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan's office as he emerged from a hotel room here allegedly carrying the $20,000 the two brothers say they gave him in the room moments before.

The prosecution has introduced into evidence a tape recording of

Jet Was Under Control Of Radar Team on Ground

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—A man on the ground was flying a Voodoo jet interceptor when the fighter plane and an American Airlines Electra almost collided Monday night, an Air Force spokesman said today.

The spokesman said the Voodoo was being controlled electronically by a radar team at Watertown, north of here.

The turbo-prop airliner, flying non-stop from Boston to Detroit with 57 persons aboard, took such violent evasive action that several of the 52 passengers were thrown into the aisles and across seats. Five suffered minor injuries.

The Air Force, the Civil Aeronautics Board and Federal Aviation Agency immediately began investigations.

The Voodoo, which carries a pilot and radar operator, was on an intercept mission during a night training exercise and was controlled by a ground team, usually composed of two men. Either could have complete control of the plane, he said.

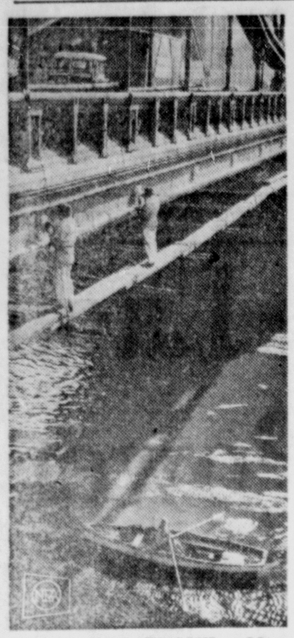

The pilot, First Lt. Denis J. Haney, 24, of New York City, could have resumed control at any time, the spokesman said. He added that he had not learned whether Haney did take control to avoid a collision.

The Air Defense Command at Colorado Springs, Colo., sent Brig. Gen. William Elder, the command's inspector general to head an initial inquiry into the incident. Air Force headquarters in Washington also is convening a board of inquiry, the spokesman said.

The jet interceptor was an Air Defense Command aircraft based at Griffiss Air Force Base, Rome, N.Y.

The Air Force spokesman said

DO YOU REMEMBER

BY SOPHIE MILLER

Mention of old-fashioned cooking or foods brings interesting response. I see Rachel Carson, who wrote "The Silent Spring" is a biologist, according to Cynthia Lowry (AP Television - Radio Writer). Her documented book brought famous people for and against poisons, some 900 million ponds sprayed, poured and dusted on our land with intent to kill certain pests. At the same time the nation's wildlife, and balance of nature is in danger, and so are we. There are millions of dollars in the sale of pesticidies, and even when used with the care and according to direction, even those against Rachel Carson, must admit, it is poison. It was also said, that some 80 per cent of wildlife examined did contain pesticide residues. It will be interesting to watch the battle that Rachel Carson started.

I had an interesting telephone call from a lady, who says, now at Easter time when you want hard boiled eggs for coloring, the shells crack. The shells are rough and bumpy, in other words where is the old-fashioned, good Ulster County fresh farm eggs from ordinary chickens. She told me that she came from a large family, and when they were small and had chickens, they were sent out by their parents to collect clam shells from the fish markets. These they brought home and cracked into tiny pieces, and these were given to the chickens for their calcium intake, and their eggs had good shells. The children in this family received 3 cents allowance each week for this work, so she remembers it well. She also told me when she opens a gizzard in a modern up-to-date chicken nothing seems to be there, years ago, it was filled with tiny little stones.

This may be a simple thing, what's wrong with the egg shells that they crack instantly before real boiling, even though salt is added. An old time farmer will tell you, they lack calcium. If you put them up to the light, the shell is nearly transparent in places, and bumpy. This lady feels that our Ulster County chickens are living in high class apartment houses, perhaps safe and sanitary instead of enjoying the run of grass and natural sunshine, and they are turning out new and improved eggs which cannot be hard-boiled. Perhaps other readers are having the same problems.

I spoke to a gentlman from the New York State Veterinarian College at 88 Prince Street. He liked the expression of this lady, "High class chickens who live in apartment houses." He says that is exactly what is going on. Raising of chickens and eggs is big business now and in some places they have as much as a quarter of a million chickens, and they live in coops, off the ground, and are fed special mash or food which includes calcium carbonate or other calcium products but they live their lives indoors under the most sanitary conditions possible. They do not run outdoors in the grass, and hunt their own little white pebbles and clam shells and corn, and perhaps berries, which seem to grow near chicken coops. He also explained, that in the mid-west, eggs are sometimes rubbed with a mineral oil, which is not harmful, but kept the egg from drying and those eggs also sometimes reach us. He feels that eggs from young birds are better than the larger eggs from older chickens. Anyway, someone must still have good old-fashioned Ulster County eggs, where the chickens enjoy the freedom of a yard, grass and are individualists.

Parents to Receive Medal for Hero Son

WASHINGTON (AP) — John Nicholas Aramino Jr., 17, lost his life saving a 9-year-old boy from a freight train on a trestle near Le Roy, N.Y.

His parents, of Le Roy, will receive the Young American Bravery Medal for their son, to be presented by President Kennedy at a special White House ceremony later this spring.

The award will be the first posthumous one made in the program established by Congress in 1950, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy announced Monday.

Congress set up the program to provide recognition for boys and girls under 19 years of age who perform outstanding acts of bravery or service each year. This year's medals will raise the total awarded to 19 for bravery and 7 for service.

The attorney general approves the selections after they are made by a committee, headed by FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover.

Nominations are made by governors of each state.

"These young people have earned the gratitude and respect not only of those they have so greatly benefitted, but also of the nation," Atty. Gen. Kennedy said.

Erie-Lackawanna Would Cut 4 Trains

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Erie-Lackawanna Railroad Co. asked the Interstate Commerce Commission Monday for authority to discontinue four passenger trains in New York State, effective May 8.

The company said it had been losing money on the operation of the trains.

In one application the railroad proposed to discontinue:

No. 40, which leaves Elmira, N. Y., at 7:45 a.m., arriving Hoboken, N.J., 2:40 p.m.

No. 43 which leaves Hoboken at 4:45 p.m., arriving Elmira at 11:15 p.m. This train would be discontinued from Scranton to Elmira, a distance of about 120 miles but would operate on its present schedule between Hoboken and Scranton.

The company said the trains averaged less than 40 passengers a trip during 1962.

In another application the company proposed to discontinue passenger trains No. 25 from Port Jervis, N.Y., to Binghamton, N.Y., a distance of 127 miles and train No. 26 from Binghamton to Hoboken, 214 miles.

No. 25 would operate on its present schedule between Hoboken and Port Jervis, leaving Hoboken at 6:45 p.m. and arriving at Port Jervis at 8:58 p.m.

No. 26 leaves Binghamton at 4:35 a.m., arriving at Hoboken at 9:30 a.m.

The company said the two trains averaged less than 16 passengers a day in 1962.

County Students Win Six Library Contest Awards

Ulster County high school students won six prizes recently in the Mid-Hudson Libraries art contest.

Judy Chatham, Ninth Grade, Josephine Degiorgi, 11th Grade and Gus Wiedemann, 10th Grade, Kingston High School students under the supervision of Mrs. Althea S. Odell, art instructor, were awarded first, second and third prizes by the committee of judges, all professional artists, in the five-county contest for a symbol for Mid-Hudson Libraries. This was made known in a ceremony held recently in Poughkeepsie.

Robert Birkhead and Barbara Zygmont, also Kingston High School students, and Ralph Hoffman, of Onteora Central School, won honorable mention for Ulster County in the art contest.

Presented by Mayor

First, second and third prizes were presented by Mayor Victor C. Waryas of Poughkeepsie. The event, which included luncheon and a tour of the Mid-Hudson Libraries Headquarters, was attended by county supervisors of Columbia, Dutchess, Greene, Putnam and Ulster Counties, trustees and staff of Mid-Hudson Libraries, high school principals, art teachers and winning contestants from the five counties.

Majority Leader Peter Williams of Ulster County Board of Supervisors, presented the book-awards to the three students winning honorable mention for Ulster County.

Angelo Canna, supervisor, Town of Cairo, presented awards to Antoinette Dilorio, Patricia Bona and Rose Marie Haussler, Cairo Central School students who won honorable mention for Greene County.

Clyde Chase, Pine Plains supervisor, and chairman of Dutchess County Library Committee, called for "Equal library service for all," as he presented book awards to Susan Caulkins, Carole Powles and Ronald Reader, Poughkeepsie High School students, who won honorable mention for Dutchess County.

Mayor Waryas, presenting first, second and third prizes to Judy Chatham, Josephine Degiorgi and Gus Wiedemann congratulated the students on two grounds: first, because of their artistic achievements and also because of the opportunity they had had in learning to understand the value of the public library.

The mayor went on to say that he regrets very much that students and people of all ages who need the library cannot now use the Adriance Memorial Library. "But," he said, "a reappraisal is long overdue of city services, such as the public library, paid for by the residents of Poughkeepsie, and used without adequate compensation by people outside the city."

Mrs. Gerald Carson, president, Mid-Hudson Libraries, read a message of congratulations from Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller.

More than 200 entries were submitted by area high school students in the Mid-Hudson Libraries contest for a symbol. Cash prizes and books were given to first, second and third winners for the whole area. In addition, book awards were presented to three students winning honorable mention in each county. Also, Kingston High School, in which the winning prize was produced was awarded $25 worth of books to be selected by Mrs. Odell, art instructor.

Also attending from Ulster County were Dan H. Allen, principal, Kingston High School and trustee, Mid-Hudson Libraries; Donald Jennings, chairman of Art Department, Onteora Central School; Martin Rubin and Edward L. Dalby, trustees, Mid-Hudson Libraries.

All Hands Safe On Arizona Bus

YOUNG, Ariz. (AP)—The great fuss over the wayward bus is over.

A two-state search for a busload of 10 high school students and five adults from Young ended in a Harbor City, Calif., motel Tuesday night.

All hands were reported safe. The bus driver, W. H. Merchant, principal of the high school, said the bus wasn't missing at all.

The bus left this tiny central Arizona community Saturday for an Easter vacation trip to Disneyland, Marineland and the San Diego Zoo.

Arizona authorities began a two-state search after members of the group failed to telephone their families Saturday night. The parents understood they were to get nightly phone calls, authorities said.

Merchant told police there was no such agreement. Besides, he explained, there were only a couple of telephones in Young, and it was often impossible to reach the town.

Adding to the confusion, police said, was the group's decision not to check in at the Long Beach, Calif., hotel, where they had reservations. Merchant said they decided to stay at a motel in nearby Harbor City because the Long Beach hotel was perilously close to an amusement area and sailors out on the town.

Police said they found the missing Arizonans after getting a phone tip from someone who had heard about the missing bus and spotted it in Harbor City.

Merchant told officers they plan to go to San Diego Thursday, then return home Friday or Saturday.

The management at the motel refused to let newsmen talk to the Arizonans. "There's been too much commotion already," a spokesman said.

Load of Scenery Has Driver in Predicament

NEW ROCHELLE, N.Y. (AP)—You might say that truck driver Salvatore M. Augliera was in a predicament Tuesday.

His 14-foot, 9-inch trailer was too tall for the New England Thru-way toll gates and he was turned back. But a bridge underpass he had cleared on the approach had only a 13-foot clearance over the return lanes.

So Augliera, who found up with a summons, had to wait for police to jockey traffic for him to use the lanes he could clear. And then he had to find another route to Stratford, Conn., with the load of scenery for the American Shakespeare Festival opening of "Comedy of Errors."

T. W. Moore New Head Of Broadcasting Co.

NEW YORK (AP)—Thomas W. Moore has been elected president of the American Broadcasting Co. television network.

Announcement of Moore's election was made Tuesday by Leonard H. Goldenson, president of American Broadcasting-Paramount Theaters Inc.

Moore started his television career in 1952 as an account executive for the Columbia Broadcasting System. He was appointed ABC-TV vice president in charge of sales in 1957, and in 1958 became vice president in charge of programming.

Child Health Program

A child health conference, conducted by the Ulster County Health Department will be held at the Tumor Clinic Building, 400 Broadway, Tuesday, April 16 from 9 to 10 a. m. These clinics are limited to infant and pre-school children for the purpose of improving child health through early recognition of defects, advice regarding nutrition, instruction of parents in understanding of growth and development, handling of minor behavior difficulties and the administering of immunizations for smallpox, diphtheria, tetanus, whooping cough and polio.

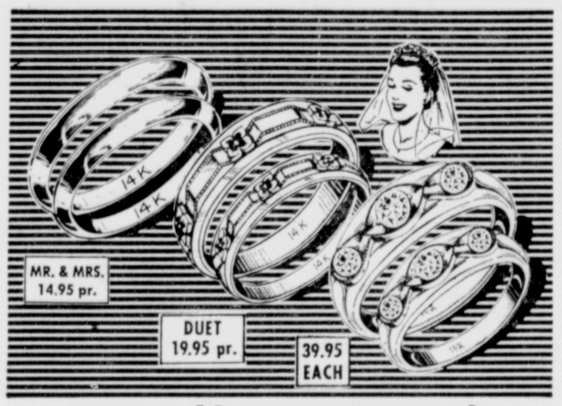

A couple of tablespoons of butter, melted and mixed with a tablespoon of lemon juice do the job of seasoning a small bunch of broccoli that has been cooked.

PATRIOT'S DAY

We usually celebrate the ends of wars, not their beginnings. An exception is Patriot's Day—April 19—and even this is officially observed in only two states, Massachusetts and Maine.

It is a curious fact that just four days after the deadline for paying our less than beloved income taxes, we commemorate the beginning of a war that was started by men who, among other things, didn't want to pay taxes—at least, not without their own representatives in Parliament.

It began in the mists of early morning on April 19, 1775, when 700 British troops, marching toward Concord, Mass., to seize stockpiled arms and powder, were intercepted on Lexington common. There, 77 hastily assembled farmers heard the immortal words of their leader, fellow farmer John Parker:

"Stand your ground. Don't fire unless fired upon. But if they mean to have a war, let it begin here."

In the 188 years that have passed since that day, the face of America has been completely transformed. Yet Lexington, Concord and the area around Boston preserve enough of their rustic beauty to enable one to imagine how it was on that fateful day.

The road between the towns is paved, of course, and there is a refreshment stand at Concord Bridge. Still, it is not too difficult to visualize how it was—those booted men in homespun, the outraged British soldier in his flamboyant coat of red, the crackle of musketry, the acrid smell of burned powder.

It is well that we observe the beginning of this war, the American Revolution, the War of Independence. It is well that we—and those who oppose us at the Berlin Wall or in the Florida Straits or wherever—remember John Parker's words:

"Stand your ground. Don't fire unless fired upon. But if they mean to have a war, let it begin here."

SOUND DRUG REPORT

The idea of punishment to fit the crime has developed as one of the basic tenets of our system of justice. The President's Advisory Commission on Narcotics and Drug Abuse recommends more careful application of this principle to offenders in this area. The recommendation deserves strong public support.

This is so because fitting punishment to the offense would get at the root of a central narcotics problem, that of coupling rehabilitation of victims with severe punishment of those engaged in the drug traffic. Under present law, users of habit-forming drugs generally face imprisonment. Under the recommendations, a change in emphasis would be possible; users who did not intend to peddle the drugs could be given treatment for rehabilitation more readily than is now the case.

No one should suppose that the presidential commission advises a namby pamby approach to the monstrous drug traffic. Its further recommendations would sharpen the federal government's weapons, and give it new ones.

For example, the commission proposes legislation for strict federal control over the manufacture, sale and distribution of such dangerous drugs as tranquilizers, barbiturates and amphetamines. It calls for a specially trained Justice Department team to carry through on drug cases. It urges the federal government to launch a massive, coordinated attack on the illicit traffic in narcotics and other drugs.

One of the commission's most important recommendations, for the long haul, is that a comprehensive program of research be undertaken. Some research is being carried on now, but it is inadequate and not coordinated. The commission's plan for a concerted attack on investigating all aspects of drug abuse makes excellent sense. All in all, its interim report should give Congress new impetus in fashioning laws to deal more intelligently and comprehensively with a major social problem.

'These Days'

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

A TAX IS A TAX IS A TAX

If you listen to the suspicions of a few realistic Senators—Richard Russell of Georgia is one example—you come away with the idea that fifty hungry State governors are just waiting to snap up any loose tax cut money which Congress may permit the American people to keep. And anything that the fifty governors may chance to overlook, the mayors of umpteen U. S. cities will be most happy to accept. The local wolves in City Hall and in the governors' mansions all have their tongues hanging out waiting for rejects from the federal table.

Well, isn't that the way we high-minded partisans of states' rights and local initiative would have it? Here we have been preaching for years that the Federal government has been grabbing tax money that should be going directly to the grass-roots communities. By collecting taxes for themselves, we have argued, the localities would be sure to get the cash without having to relinquish a portion of it to support the Washington bureaucracy as it draws the dough in from the states and then passes a diminished part of it back in the form of federal aid to this and that.

The only practical trouble with looking at things this way is that the American people are tired of paying big taxes to anybody, period. Sure, the villages and the towns and the states have been starved by Washington for tax money sources. Sure, it would be better for education and urban renewal and four-lane throughways if the control of the same fiscal means could be kept out of the hands of Washington and restored to the localities. But political theory to one side, it is just as much a wrench to the pocketbook when a mayor takes your money as when it goes to feed Mort Caplin's insatiable Internal Revenue Service suction pump.

The truth would seem to be that when almost a third of the annual income of a people is being seized by governments of all types, it renders a man almost completely insensitive to nice distinctions in political philosophy. Is local control better than centralization? The answer to that one is what difference does it make when the guy wants to milk you dry. Does it matter what the hijacker's address is when he is clobbering you on the head?

Even now, the local locusts are busy anticipating any and all tax relief that Washington is—supposedly—ready to grant. Indeed, the wails are loud in the land that what the federal government is prepared to yield is already going into other suction pumps. In New York City, for example, it is as good as settled as I write these lines that there will be an increase in the local sales tax from three to four per cent. Moreover, a tax on commercial rent payers in New York is in the works.

I happened to be in the Empire State Building office of a prominent research outfit when news of the prospective commercial rent tax was released. The language of the research outfit's president included some epithets which I had never heard before. "You know what this tax means to us," he said in one of his less choleric interludes. "It means we shell out a hundred extra bucks a month. And what do I get for it? I might just as well transfer my business to Princeton, New Jersey, where I can live in nice surroundings." In another office on that same day I listened to the story of a foresighted man who had already moved his business premises to the New Jersey end of the George Washington Bridge.

So it goes when the local locusts take over from the federal locusts. But there is some balm in it. After all, there is dignity in knowing you have a choice between in-town and out-of-town shopping. And the research outfit can really move to Princeton when its Empire State Building lease is up.

Small balm, you may say, if you like to live where you are already established and if you like to shop where you have always shopped. The only self-respecting action, when you come right down to it, is to declare war on the tax locusts everywhere. When you write to your Congressman to tell him to stop dreaming up nice projects for you, send a carbon copy of the letter to the governor. And another to the mayor. This will, of course, increase the fees to the post office. But when the post office bill gets too high we can always revive the Pony Express. It would take a new law to make it legal, but who knows what a maddened people might do?

The DOCTOR SAYS

Outlook Today Is Favorable For Ulcerative Colitis Victim

BY WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M. D.
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Ulcerative colitis is a baffling disease. It's cause is unknown. It is easy to recognize and hard to treat. Although progress in the treatment of this disease is being made, it still takes the lives of many children and young adults. The idea that it was caused by a germ or virus was held by some authorities, but has been abandoned, chiefly because there has never been an epidemic of the disease and it rarely attacks more than one member of a family.

There is some evidence that an emotional element plays a part in causing or aggravating the disease. Direct observation of the mucous membrane of the colon in a victim showed that anger or resentment caused increased muscular activity of the wall of the colon, engorgement with blood, and small hemorrhages under the mucous lining.

Few, however, believe that this is the only factor involved. The stress and strain of the struggle in young people to become economically independent may be a factor. Recent studies strongly suggest that a food allergy may be an important cause.

Whatever the cause, the ulcers that form in the colon and the resulting diarrhea rob the body of essential nourishment and lead to extreme loss of weight and weakness. Add to this a slow but steady bleeding from the affected area and it can be readily seen that this is a serious disease; and, without proper treatment, it is a hopeless one.

Fortunately, much can be done for the victims.

Early in the course of the disease an attempt must always be made to control the process without operation. In many patients this can be done and, even when operation becomes necessary, the preliminary medical treatment puts the victim in a much better condition to withstand the operation. Rest, avoidance of emotional upsets, and a diet without roughage are the basic requirements. Blood transfusions may have to be given.

Medicated enemas have been tried, but have been abandoned because they further irritate an already damaged bowel. Psychoanalysis has also been found to be of little if any value in treatment of persons with ulcerative colitis.

Cortisone and relative drugs are often used for short periods, especially in preparation for operation. In patients with a severe initial attack these drugs my be lifesaving. In those victimes whose disease was found to be due to allergy, eliminating the offending food from the diet was attended after several weeks by marked improvement, but not by complete cure. A recent study in England indicates that a new sulfa drug (salicylazosulfapyridine) will control a mild attack, if given early in the course of the disease.

Even with the best of medical treatment between 35 and 65 per cent of the victims have to be operated on, usually from three to six years after the onset. If an operation is decided on, nothing short of removal of the diseased colon will help. This means that the patient will have a new opening, an ileostomy, in the abdomen. The ileostomy bag that he must wear has been so vastly improved in recent years that this is no longer considered a handicap.

I will have more to say about the growing band of cheerful ileostomy patients. Suffice to say at this point that, useful as the colon is, it is one of the organs we can do very well without if we have to.

WASHINGTON, (NEA)—The censensus at the black tie dinner honoring Harry Flood Byrd's 30 years of continuous service in the U. S. Senate was that the Virginia gentleman apple grower will run for re-election in 1964.

"If he doesn't, all hell will break loose in Virginia among the people who want to succeed him," one Old Dominion official put it.

And if that happens, the famous Byrd political organization—the most effective but the loosest-knit political machine in the United States, built around the personality of one leader—might well fall apart.

Byrd will be 76 in June. If re runs he will be re-elected, and he would be 83 at the end of another term.

But as Virginius Dabney, editor of the Richmond Times-Dispatch, said to unanimous applause: "I hope he runs for another term in 1964. Any man who can climb Old Rag Mountain every year, leading younger men, is able to serve a sixth term."

BYRD DID ANNOUNCE that he would retire in 1958 at the end of his fourth term, when he was a mere 71. But all his cohorts and followers demanded that he run again. And in that connection, Vice President Lyndon Johnson told this story:

Among those who went down to Richmond to make impassioned speeches that Byrd should change his decision not to run was the late Sen. Robert S. Kerr, D-Okla. As ranking Democrat on the Senate Finance Committee, Kerr might succeed to the chairmanship if Chairman Byrd retired.

Three days after Kerr pulled all his oratorical stops in an appeal that Byrd must run for re-election, the withdrawal was withdrawn. And the crestfallen Kerr came to Johnson, who was then majority leader to ask, "Why do you reckon Harry changed his mind?"

Johnson in turn asked his long-time desk-mate Byrd and got the cryptic reply, "I just couldn't let Bob down."

"It was the only time," Kerr commented later, "that Harry Byrd ever paid a damned bit of attention to any of my speeches."

THESE WERE JUST A couple of the highlights at the Smithfield (Virginia) ham and (imported) champagne dinner which the Reader's Digest gave for some 300 of Byrd's colleagues and admirers to mark—a month late—the 30th aniversary of his original appointment to the U. S. Senate, March 4, 1933.

"Just think of it," said the Digest's executive editor Hobart Lewis, who presided, "Senator Byrd has been down here holding his finger in the dyke all this time. We wanted to title an article about him, 'Profile in Courage,' but decided not to."

Bernard Baruch, now 93, came up from South Carolina to honor the 75-year-old Byrd with this tribute: "If Diogenes had lived in this age, he would have put out his lantern and gone home, happy to have found his honest man."

THERE WERE ABOUT as many Republican senators at the dinner as Democratic senators, which was only to be expected. Because that's the kind of following and appeal Harry Byrd has.

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen spoke for the Republicans, and also as a Virginian, because as he said, his opponents back home in Illinois had accused him of being a "fugitive" when he built a house near Leesburg, Va., "a $350,000 estate," they charged, though it was all on one floor.

"The Senate has just conferred on Winston Churchill the citizenship of the United States," said Dirkson. "We have no titles in America, but we have a nobility which has to be earned. And you (Senator Byrd) are of the nobility of free men."

There were other tributes galore which the senator modestly said later he did not deserve, though they filled his heart.

AT THE END THEY GAVE the senator a golden apple because, as Lewis said:

"We hope all your endeavors will bear fruit and that all of your days will be golden."

"I hope these can be rasied on my trees," said Byrd. Somebody had pointed out earlier that in all his years as an apple grower, Byrd had never taken one soil conservation payment from the government and had never sold the government one apple.

That characterized him as well as anything said all evening.

Goldwater Ground Swell — A New Trend in Politics?

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — There's something rather sensational going on today in national politics—a ground swell for a Presidential candidate 16 months before the nominating convention.

This has happened at various times in past history as other aspirants — who had attracted headline attention and built up a substantial number of votes in the months before the convention—were swept aside by a widespread sentiment that emerged from the grass roots in favor of a "dark horse" candidate.

Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona has been mentioned intermittently during the last two years as a possible Republican nominee for 1964, but until recently his name was never taken seriously by disinterested observers—nor by some of the veteran politicans.

Something has developed however, in political discussions, across the country during the last six months which indicates clearly that Barry Goldwater will enter the next convention with the support of what might be called the backbone of the Republican party's strength in the nation. He is going to be as important in the next convention as Wendell Willkie was in 1940, but for different reasons.

Wilkie Was Ignored

This writer was among the first to mention Wilkie as a possible candidate at least a year before the convention, but the New York business executive wasn't regarded then as even a potential candidate. It was taken for granted that a businessman could not be nominated. Yet, just about 90 days before the balloting for a nominee was at hand, the regular organization Republicans began to take him seriously. He had not made any big speech-making campaign. He had not gone into any primaries. It was simply a case of an "image" being presented to the Republicans that seemed to fit the situation at the time.

Sen. Goldwater says tactfully that he hasn't made up his mind to make an organized effort to win the nomination. He is right to avoid giving the impression of a self-seeking politician. In the meantime, he talks frankly, bluntly and unequivocally. If the Republican delegates like what he says, he knows they will consider him. If his views do not fit the current problems, they will disregard him.

Sen. Goldwater has said enough already, however, to win sizazble support among the rank-and-file and the leaders of his party in the West and in many parts of the East The South is for him because he has put the "civil rights" issues in perspective and yet has maintained a posititon that is in line with the Republican record in Congress. He might really break the attachment of the "solid South" to the Democratic party today and also win over many Northern Democrats who have a realistic understanding of the issues involved in the "civil rights" debate.

Cuba Issue Helps

What has lately aroused, on the other hand ,a noticeable enthusiasm for Sen. Goldwater throughout the country is his forthright comments on the Cuban problem. He has managed to sense correctly the true state of public opinion—the mood of the average voter. His criticisms of the Administration's hesitancy and wavering policy, which he describes as timid, have won considerable applause.

But it isn't any one issue that makes a candidate seem a plausible choice. It is, first of all, the impression he conveys of fundamental honesty and commonsense judgment. Next in importance is his penetrating analyses of all the basic issues.

In the case of Sen. Goldwater, there is a feeling that he has the courage of his convictions and understands the Republican party's attitude toward "New Dealism," "New Frontierism" and those Administration policies which harass businessmen and impair their confidence in economic progress—something necessary for industry to have if the economy is to expand and jobs are to be created to relieve unemployment.

The strategy of the coming campaign itself may be a factor in selecting the candidate. Do the Republicans want a candidate who embraces so-called "liberal" policies, even as he alienates the regular Republicans?

Stimulation a Factor

Republican delegates usually are not enthusiastic about a possible nominee whose main strength might be assumed to be the winning of "liberal" Democrats. The Republican party is more inclined today to pick a candidate who can stimulate and enthuse the regular Republicans and woo a substantial number of Democrats in the South, as well as in other parts of the country, who believe in an enlightened conservatism and who are basically anti-radical.

Sen. Goldwater's growing strength means that the major factors in the Republican party will have to undergo an "agonizing reappraisal" of just how strongly they are ready to support the fundamental principles of the party today and how articulate and effective a versatile and forthright man like Barry Goldwater could be, as contrasted with the three Republican Governors whose names are often mentioned for the Presidential nomination — namely, Rockefeller of New York, Romney of Michigan and Scranton of Pennsylvania — each of whom has certain points of voter attraction. But, while the nominating convention is more than a year away, the potential delegates are at this time taking a good look at Barry Goldwater and talking a great deal about him among themselves.

Grand Bahama Island — Cuba brought the helm around until the boat headed into the chop. Then he went aft and trailed the little ballyhoo fish so that they swam in silent death 300 feet behind the outriggers. Cuba is a shiny black Bahamian who knows native fish and women. He works hard at one to afford the other. Sometimes, he loses both.

He worked fast at the bait, glancing through the cabin because he had aimed Away We Go dead at the Grand Bahama Hotel a mile away. Big fish are seldom found in close. Cuba had a hunch. "De beeg wan," he said, "he hongry ofter de beeg east wind. Maybe he come in for de little feesh."

Cuba was talking to Robert Miller and the owner of the boat. They sat in fighting chairs, squinting their eyes against a million discs of sun on the royal blue sea. They were waiting for a clothespin to snap and to hear the shriek of the reel. Miller is a big man with a shy smile and a modest air. "This is the third time I've ever gone fishing," he said. "I won't catch anything, but I'd like to see you get something."

The boat owner is a short gray man with built-in confidence. "I've fished since I was a kid," he said, "and I've caught everything except a big bill fish." Miller lazed back in his chair. "What's that?" he said. The Gray One said that it is a marlin or a sailfish—a big one with a sword in front. "Oh," said Miller. "The kind you see mounted over a mantle."

In the cabin, the two wives sat facing each other in the breakfast nook. Jerri Miller, a pretty brunette, was talking woman talk to the tall blonde with the sun-reddened nose. "My Bob," she was saying, "can do anything." The other one smiled. She understood. "No," Jerri said, "I mean it. If he sets his mind to something . . ."

Cuba was back on the flying bridge, keeping the bows on the Grand Bahama. Once he looked back, to make sure that there was no weed on the swimming ballyhoo. Below, the two men relaxed in the chairs. The owner of the boat did not know the Millers. He had met them at the hotel and invited them aboard.

He didn't do this often. Bob Brumby had said that Miller was executive secretary of Phi Delta Theta, a fraternity. The Gray One was intrigued. He didn't know that fraternities were that big. So he had talked with the couple awhile. As always, he learned from strangers.

Miller was 37. He met his wife at the University of New Mexico. They had two boys: Rob, nine, who had saved his spending money and bought his own pony, and Dennis Burran, who was 19 months old, and adopted. Bob Miller felt that a good national college fraternity should be more than a social group raising steins to dear old alma mater once a year.

He might have made much money as a doctor, a lawyer, or an engineer. He chose instead to join Phi Delta Theta, which was founded in 1848, and has 85,000 members in 124 colleges. He is aware that he will never become rich at this work, but he is happiest finding jobs for PDT graduates, and finding new ways of being of service to 85,000 men who live in every county in the country.

The Millers bought a nice house, complete with mortgage, in Oxford, Ohio, which is the seat of Miami University and the founding college of the fraternity. "He's not a loud talker," Jerri was saying to the tall blonde, "but Bob gets things done. If he wants to get a big fish sitting out there in the back, he'll say he won't, and then he'll catch it."

"You can fish a whole lifetime," the Gray One was saying, "and never catch a marlin and never even see one." Miller grinned. "I'll be happy to get my bait back," he said. Cuba watched the approaching shore and decided to make his turn to port. He was halfway in it when the clothespin snapped and Miller's line sang out in a rising whine. The Gray One jumped out of his fighting chair. Cuba tumbled down a ladder. The women gaped, then ran aft.

"Easy mon, easy," Cuba said. "He's heavy and strong. Put more drag on. Tire him. Let him ron." Far aft, the sea suddenly split and out of the white foam a giant fish made his twisting leap, and fell back into the deep. Cuba stared, transfixed. Then he jumped off the deck. "Marlin, mon!" he screamed. "Blue marlin. He big wan."

Miller fought quietly, as he always does. He put his back and his arms into it and the marlin swordfish sounded and surfaced. In a half hour, he had been gaffed. The fish was too big to bring aboard, so he was lassoed and tied athwart the stern. He measured 10 feet 11 inches. That evening, Bob Miller was a hero.

"Don't take my picture," he said. "If it ever gets out that I went fishing, people will think I'm not working for the fraternity." Jerri Miller smiled. "See?" she said to the other woman. "See?" . . .

ADVANCE IN RANK—Three boys of Troop 9 advanced to second class and one to Life Scout rank at the recent Parents Night and Court of Honor of the troop held at Redeemer Lutheran Church meeting rooms. Receiving badges from Scoutmaster William Daum (right) are, in the usual order, Robert Moser, Randy Wells and David Krause, advanced to second class, and William Bruce, Life Scout. (Freeman photo)

Boy Scout Troop 9 Has Honor Court; Awards Life Badge

Three members of Boy Scout Troop 9 advanced to the second rank in Scouting and one reached the next to highest rank at the troop's Parents Night and Court of Honor Friday night at the Evengelical Lutheran Church of Redeemer, sponsoring church.

Senior Patrol Leader William Bruce, having completed all the necessary requirements, was awarded the badge of Life Scout in a ceremony conducted by Scoutmaster William M. Daum, assisted by Junior Assistant Scoutmaster William L. Daum.

Three Are Advanced

David Krause, Robert Moser, and Randy Wells were advanced to Second Class rank in a ceremony conducted by Assistant Scoutmaster Richard Burns, assisted by Senior Scouts Robert Villielm and Roger Wells, and Junior Assistant Scoutmaster Dennis Markle. Corresponding miniature pins were presented to the mothers of the advancing Scouts.

Guests, in addition to Troop 9's families, included five members of the Webelos Den of Pack 9 and their parents. Witnessing the ceremonies were Cub Scouts Theodore Blankschan, Roberg Burger, William Dunbar, Dietrich Rauscher and Gordon Stoutenburg.

Following the troop's formal opening, William Bruce gave a talk on Soil and Water Conservation, stressing the need for public interest and support of these vital programs.

A First Aid demonstration was presented by the Merit Badge Class, under the direction of Assistant Scoutmaster Burns. Participants were Partol Leaders Steven Ryan and Raymond Wells and Scouts Robert Bruce and George Freer.

Presents Merit Badges

Ralph Wells, chairman of the Troop Committee, presented merit badges earned by the scouts as follows: Home Repairs—Bruce Aho, George Freer, and Roger Wells. Firemanship—Robbert Bruce; Automobiling—Dennis Markle; Public Health—William Daum; and Citizenship in the Nation—William Bruce.

A one-year service star was awarded to Richard Krom.

During a separate meeting with the parents, Scoutmaster Daum discussed camp values and parents participation in a scout's participation for summer camp. The troop plans to camp as a unit at Camp Tri-Mount the first week in July. A weekend camping trip to the Rip Van Winkle Council camp in East Jewett is scheduled for April 19-21.

At the conclusion of the program, refreshments were served by the troop Mothers Club.

Orderly Ironing

Organizing your ironing can help you speed this weekly job. Iron the same types of clothing together, such as handkerchiefs and flat pieces, all shirts, all dresses, etc. You will find that you develop a rhythm for each set that cuts down on time.

It's a monster!

5030 Oakcrest Drive
Oxon Hill, Hargland

Gentlemen,

I agree with your ads. Most wives look at the Volkswagen Station Wagon and say, "Absolutely not - it's too silly looking."

But I agreed to go to the local VW showroom and take a spin. "It's a monster," was my first reaction. "I'll never be able to drive it," was my second. But I did drive it - all 105 pounds of me - with no trouble at all! I can see out in all directions and I don't have a right fender to worry about.

We bought it and I must confess it's even less trouble than our dear, reliable VW Sedan.

Sincerely,
Mrs Allen L. Boyd

SAUGERTIES NEWS

P-TA to Hear New School Plans Wednesday Night

Saugerties P-TA will devote its April program to a presentation of the new school plan 8 p. m. Wednesday, April 17, at the new high school auditorium.

Albert Milliken, architect for this proposal, will explain the basic features of the plan and, along with members of the Board of Education and Superintendent of Schools, Dr. Dexter Arnold, endeavor to answer any questions raised from the floor.

Although design details for the plan are not complete, this program will provide the public an opportunity to better understand the scope of the problems and the merits of this proposal in meeting them. Following the presentation, there will be a question and answer period at which time any questions concerning the problem or proposed solution may be asked.

Prior to the new school plan program, nominations for next year's P-TA officers will be made. P-TA elections will be held at the May 15 meeting at the Main Street Auditorium.

April 30 Deadline For Communion Breakfast, May 5

The deadline for reservations for the annual Communion breakfast of St. Mary of the Snow Rosary Society was set for April 30 during last week's meeting of the group.

Chairman Dorothy Corea urged all members to purchase tickets as soon as possible. More than 100 Rosarians and their guests are expected to attend the breakfast in the Flamingo Restaurant Sunday, May 5, following the 9:30 Mass in St. Mary's.

Tickets may be obtained from the chairman or her assistants Mrs. Joan Carr, Mrs. Emily Swingle or Mrs. Marion Schnell.

President Carolyn Parenti announced the following Rosarians who will form a nominating committee to present a slate of officers at the May meeting. Mrs. Helen Keeley, Mrs. Jean Seither, Mrs. John Keefe and Mrs. Matilde Fitzpatrick. Elections will take place at the June meeting.

Members desiring to participate in the Living Rosary on May 2 are asked to contact Isabel De Celle. Sixty-six women carrying lighted candles will form a procession ending in a living rosary on that night. At the conclusion of the rosary, flowers will be placed on Mary's altar, and the impressive investiture of new members will take place. Any woman who has joined the society in the past year or who has not yet been invsted, should be present. Investees are asked to contact Mrs. Margaret Wilsey. The rehearsal date will be Monday, April 30, following the Novena devotions.

Mrs. Wilsey outlined the plans for the college night for junior and senior high school students and their mothers slated for early June.

The idea of this special night is to have in attendance local students presently enrolled in Catholic colleges or nurses' training and graduates of Catholic colleges who will represent Catholic education as a whole, not the individual institutions. A panel discussion will open the program which also includes a question-answer period and a social to allow informal mingling of the participants. Brochures, registration requirements, scholarships and student loan possibilities will be on display from the Catholic colleges nearby and those distant which are on an almost equal monitary status as the local state institutions. Complete details will be announced.

Collections for the support of a catechist in Northern Africa will start in May. Those 30 or more who have pledged $1 each month for this missionary endeavor should bring their contributions to Mrs. Corea or her co-promoter Mrs. Marion Garzione.

Rosary Moderator, the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Edward Plover, read an appeal from the Apostolic Delegate to Northern Africa which stated that over 100,000 conversions are taking place yearly in this fertile land, and, with the help of more catechists, it could be doubled. Any member still wishing to pledge a monthly stipend should contact Mrs. Corea.

The group voted to again serve the members of the Holy Name Society following their Communion breakfast on Sunday, June 9. Co-chairmen are Mrs. Seither and Mrs. Marion Desmond.

An invitation was received from the Rosary and Altar Society of St. John's to attend a film on cancer 8:30 p. m., Tuesday April 23, at Veteran, preceeding their monthly meeting. A doctor will be present for a question and answer period.

Extra help is still being sought by the refreshment chairman, Mrs. Garzione for the May meeting night.

Reservations are now being taken from any married couple in the area wishing to attend the Cana Conference scheduled for April 28 from 2:30 to 5 p. m. in the school cafeteria. Those interested may contact Mrs. Isabel DeCelle.

The ceramic Easter bunny centerpiece was awarded to Mrs. Pat Blundell. Profits realized will be put toward the Easter flowers for the altar.

At the conclusion of the business agenda, the film, "The Holy Shroud" was shown. It was arranged through the efforts of Mrs. Mary Pietkiewicz. James Dargan used his equipment to show the film.

The May meeting will be the combination Investiture - Living Rosary to take place in the church with refreshments following in the school cafeteria.

Saugerties Area Council of Churches will conduct a three-hour Good Friday Passion service, from 12 noon to 3 p. m. in Saugerties Methodist Church.

The seven last words of Christ from the cross will be the subject of meditations by the following clergymen, who will participate in this service:

First Word, the Rev. Orville J. Hine, pastor, Saugerties Reformed Church.

Second Word, the Rev. Alvin Messersmith, pastor, St. Paul's Lutheran Church, West Camp.

Fourth Word, the Rev. August Phfaus, pastor, Blue Mountain and Katsbaan Reformed Churches.

Sixth Word, the Rev. Henry L. Reinewald, pastor, Plattekill Reformed Church, Mount Marion.

Seventh Word, the Rev. George Wood, pastor, Flatbush Reformed Church.

The Rev. Joseph Rainear, last pastor, will pronounce the benediction. Everyone is invitetd to attend and may leave when they must.

Saugerties Area Council of Churches will conduct an Easter Sunrise Service in Seamon Park, Saugerties at 7 a. m., Sunday. R. Earle Haley, lay-preacher will deliver the sermon. Everyone is invited to attend.

Tonight, 8 o'clock, confession and Holy Communion.

Thursday, 8 p. m., confession and Holy Communion.

Good Friday, 10 a. m., children's service in Sunday school room; 8 p. m., service of meditation and prayer.

Confirmation class will not meet the week following Easter. Next session will be on Tuesday, April 23 at 4 p. m.

April 25 at 7 p. m., Lutheran Church Women of Atonement Lutheran Church assisted by the men will pack clothing to be shipped to Lutheran World Relief, Easton, Pa., for distribution in 17 countries of greatest need. Members may leave good used clothing, bedding, closed toe shoes and infant wear at the church prior to that time.

Work was completed last week on releading, resetting and storm glass glazing of the large front window of Atonement Lutheran Church, entrance rose window and front and side tower windows at a cost of $2,200 as part of the Atonement Improvement Fund Appeal projects. The work was done by Gregg Studios, Ilion.

The work completes the releading and reglazing with storm glass of the entire church. The nave portion of the church was completed in 1956. The redecorating of the entire first floor of the parish house by the Luther Leaguers of the church, with some adult help is 90 per cent complete and will be finished after Easter. The property committee has plans for work on the entrance walk, rewiring the church nave, repainting the basement and installing a decorative iron railing at the entrance of the church. The work is being financed by gifts to the A.I.D. Fund.

Plattekill Church At Mt. Marion Slates Services

Reformed Church Lists Services

A service for Holy Thursday with the administration of Communion will be held at the Reformed Church of Saugerties 7:30 p. m. tomorrow.

The service will be an adaptation of an early fourth century office with the Communion Table arranged as in many of the paintings of the Last Supper.

Music for the service, which will be sung by the adult choir under the direction of Howard Houghtaling, interprets the devotional significance of the passion from the hour of fellowship in the Upper Room to the hour of loneliness in the Garden of Gethsemane. Soloists for the service will include Miss Mildred Newkirk and Mrs. Stuart Buchan, sopranos, and Nelson G. Burhans, baritone.

The service will be conducted by the minister the Rev. Orville Jay Hine, assisted by members of the Greater Consistory of the Church. The men of consistory will read selected portions of Scripture Interpreting the events in the life of Christ leading to His Crucifixion. Men assisting the pastor will include LeRoy Snyder, Stanley Olsen, James Christiana, Jack Pakanen, Terry Staples, Silas Van Eetten, John Robbins, James Abbott, Paul A. Modjeska, Ralph Hayes, William Ziegler and William Kiernan.

The Service of Communion is an "open" communion to which persons who are new or visiting in the community, although not members of the Reformed Church, are invited to participate.

Woman and Two Children Die in Fire Near Hudson

HUDSON, N.Y. (AP) — A 48-year-old woman and two of her children died Tuesday night in a fire that destroyed a two-story house in a rural area about two miles south of Hudson. Five other members of the family escaped with minor injuries.

State Police said the dead were Mrs. Cornelia Decker, 48, Louis Decker, 19, and Rose Ann, 6.

The son lived in Saratoga Springs and had been visiting his parents. Police said he perished while trying to rescue his mother and sister, who were trapped in the living room by the flames.

The Columbia County Sheriff's Department said the fire broke out in a tub of kerosene in which Mrs. Decker's husband, Everett, 56, was cleaning automobile parts in the kitchen.

Besides Decker, two sons, Everett Jr., 23, and Charles, 17, and two daughters, Evelyn, 18, and Mary Jane, 13, escaped.

Halt Arms Race, Is Vatican Plea; Fears Chance War

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII appealed today for an end to the arms race and for the United Nations to be given the structure and means to safeguard world peace.

In an encyclical titled "Pacem in Terris" (Peace on Earth), the pontiff called for reduction of arms stockpiles, a ban on nuclear weapons and a general agreement eventually on "progressive disarmament and an effective method of control."

Warns of Conflagration

The Pope warned that the "conflagration" of war "may be set off by some uncontrollable and unexpected chance."

He added:

"Even though the monstrous power of modern weapons acts as a deterrent, it is to be feared that the mere continuance of nuclear tests, undertaken with war in mind, will have fatal consequences for life on the earth."

The Pope called for the deterrent of arms equality to be replaced by universal acceptance of the fundamental principle "that the true and solid peace of nations consists not in equality of arms but in mutual trust alone."

Writing as the "vicar on earth of Jesus Christ" and as "interpreter of the very profound longing of the entire human family," the pontiff beseeched "especially those who have the responsibility of public affairs to spare no labor in order to ensure that world events follow a reasonable and human course."

Ties Hopes to U.N.

Pope John indicated he hoped the United Nations eventually might become a strong world authority. But he did not specifically mention what peace-keeping means it should have at its disposal, such as a police force.

He said:

"A public authority having worldwide power and endowed with the proper means for the efficacious pursuit of its objective, which is the universal common good in concrete form, must be set up by common accord and not imposed by force."

But the pontiff said nations were "right in not easily yielding in obedience to an authority imposed by force, or to an authority in whose creation they had no part, or to which they themselves did not decide to submit by conscious and free choice."

For Supra-National Body

Pope John said a supra-national world authority must be considered because national leaders in the modern world are "on a footing of equality" and are "no longer capable of facing the task of finding an adequate solution to the problems."

"It is our earnest wish," the Pope continued, "that the United Nations—in its structure and in its means—may become ever more equal to the magnitude and nobility of its tasks, and that the day may come when every human being will find therein an effective safeguard for the rights which derive directly from his dignity as a person, and which are therefore universal, inviolable and inalienable rights.

"This is all the more to be hoped for since all human beings, that take an ever more active, part in the public life of their own political communities, are showing an increasing interest in the affairs of all peoples, and are becoming more consciously aware that they are living members of a world community.

Chicago Buys 74-Year-Old Settlement

Monument to Girl's Dream Is Giving Way to Progress

By CHARLES-GENE MCDANIEL

CHICAGO (AP) — Hull House, the fruition of a girl's dream and a world-famed monument to humanity, is being torn down in the name of progress.

The 74-year-old settlement just west of Chicago's Loop has been sold, after some dickering, to the city of Chicago for $875,000. It is to be razed to mak way for a new four-year branch of the University of Illinois.

The work of Hull House will continue under a dispersed program in various areas of the city.

The Hull House complex of 13 buildings, covering more than a block, developed and became known the world over under the guidance of Jane Addams, winner of the Nobel Peace Prize in 1931.

Original to Remain

All but one of the soot-begrimed, red brick buildings in a densely populated, industrial neighborhood of many nationalities will be torn down to make way for a modern university.

The university has agreed to preserve as a memorial to Miss Addams the original Hull House, the building in which she and her friend Ellen Gates Starr founded the settlement in 1889.

Miss Addams, who died in 1935, was born in 1860 in Cedarville, in northwest Illinois. The famous settlement she founded was patterned after Toynbee Hall in London.

Born of Compassion

Hull House was born of the compassion of the child Jane Addams.

When she was six and driving with her prosperous father through a poverty-stricken area of an industrial city, she saw children playing in dirty streets and dusty yards beside shabby little houses.

She was moved to comment, "When I grow up I'm going to have a big house and I'm going to ask all those children to come over and play."

Twenty-three years later, after graduation from Rockford College and travel in Europe, she returned to Chicago and found that big house at 800 S. Halsted St., one that had been the mansion of Charles Hull, an early citizen of Chicago.

Many Came

Not only children came to play, but adults came and found help in time of trouble, a place of recreation, beauty through art and music, and escape from grim surroundings.

Imigrants came to learn the language and ways of a new land.

The hungry were fed.

During the first year Hull House was open, 50,000 persons came. The next year, 2,000 a week, then 3,000 a week.

Those who lived and worked at Hull House have had no pride of class or birth but have been a part of neighborhood life. Miss Addams washed new-born babies, cared for children, nursed the sick and prepared the dead for burial.

Received Many Honors

Jane Addams, a pacifist, was an early advocate of arbitration as a means of settling differences among nations and was a founder of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom.

She was a friend of presidents and foreign statesmen and was decorated by foreign governments and honored by American universities.

Even before it was decided that Hull House property was needed for the new university, the trustees and staff—in Jane Addams' spirit of changing to meet changing times—were expanding the program to various parts of the city.

The settlement has been increasing its work with a growing population of the aged and in preventing delinquency among hard-to-reach youth.

Recording Used To Show Woman Struck by Webb

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—William L. Webb has been represented in a tape recording played by the prosecution as admitting responsibility for the death of a 35-year-old divorcee from Syracuse, N.Y.

Webb, a 45-year-old former motel operator in Oceanside, is accused of murdering Mrs. Julia Allen during an argument at her home in Oceanside.

Webb has pleaded innocent. He contends Mrs. Allen was injured in a fall.

The recording, played Tuesday at his trial, was made last Nov. 14 in a Waterloo, N.Y., hospital where Webb was being treated for an infection shortly after his arrest.

In the recording, Webb was represented as saying he hit Mrs. Allen because he feared she was going to strike him and, "... I thought Julie was more than a match for me."

In the recording, Webb told how he wrapped Mrs. Allen's body in a blanket and put it in a closet, then took her daughter Michele, 11, to relatives in Syracuse.

Mrs. Allen's body was found by neighbors Nov. 6, three days after the death.

Spring Valley Is Favored as Site For Radio Station

WASHINGTON (AP) — Attorneys for the Federal Communications Commission have recommended Spring Valley, rather than Blauvelt, as the site of a radio station in Rockland County, N.Y.

The recommendation by the FCC's broadcast bureau came in a brief filed in the three-way battle for a permit to build a station on 1300 kilocycles.

The suggestion is not binding, however, on Examiner Herbert Sharfman, who has fixed April 29 as the date for opposing parties to file reply briefs. After that, Sharfman will recommend a decision to the commission.

Rockland Broadcasters, Inc., and the Rockland Radio Corp., both Spring Valley, and the Rockland Broadcasting Co., Blauvelt, are seeking permission to build the station.

The Broadcast Bureau recommended approval of either of the Spring Valley applications.

Cancer Yielding To 3-Ply Attack

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer

LA JOLLA, Calif. (AP) — One deadly cancer in children is yielding now to a triple treatment, a famous cancer doctor reports.

An antibiotic, surgery and radiation are destroying all visible signs of this cancer, known as Wilm's tumor of the kidney, in 81 per cent of child victims, said Dr. Sidney Farber of children's hospital, Boston. One boy is alive and well six years later, other children seemingly well for two to five years thus far.

Recounting progress to an American Cancer Society seminar for science writers, Dr. Farber also announced initial success in preserving and using an element in human blood—platelets — to combat hemorrhages which are the main cause of death in children with acute leukemia or blood cancer.

He said banks of platelets may become generally available to help treat acute leukemia and acute anemia, and radiation sickness from X-ray treatment of cancer or exposure to nuclear weapons.

The apparent cure rate of the kidney cancer had recently risen to 40 per cent through surgery and radiation, Dr. Farber said. But 60 per cent of children still died, mainly because the cancer had spread to their lungs.

Now the antibiotic, Actinomycin D, has joined the battle. For the first time, all signs of a solid tumor in children are being eliminated fairly regularly.

Eighty-one per cent of youngsters receiving the combined treatment between 1957 and 1960 are alive and well.

Not All Protest Wagner Tax Plan

NEW YORK (AP)—An estimated 100,000 written complaints about Mayor Robert F. Wagner's $230 million tax increase plan have been received at City Hall during the past week.

A City Hall aide said, the largest single delivery of protests arrived Tuesday when a truck delivered five crates estimated to contain about 20,000 signatures.

The aide pointed out that not all the communications protested the increase, but that some suggested other means of getting more tax money, such as legalizing off-track betting.

Add extra seasoning when you are using mayonnaise to dress slaw. Finely grated onion, dry mustard, sugar and lemon juice do the trick.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Improving profit prospects are helping perk up the hopes of stock traders.

Rising sales have cheered many companies that earlier feared stagnation. A sizable number have been at least partially successful in combatting the rising production costs that were squeezing earnings. Modernization and automation of plants and traditional cost-cutting campaigns have helped. And steady, if slow, growth of the general economy has pushed sales and profits up along with everything else.

Trend Continuing

Net income after taxes for the nation's corporations set a record in 1962 at better than $51 billion. Early reports on results in the first quarter of 1963 show the trend is continuing, with many top companies reporting nice gains over the first three months of 1962.

The steel industry, most publicized casualty of the 1962 production slowdown and profit margin squeeze, should do better this year. Production is rising, new orders pouring in. The leaders complain that profit margins are too low, but the total figures should be higher.

The auto makers are boasting of record or near-record sales in the opening months of 1963. And their 1962 profit gains were impressive.

Already reporting profit increases for the first three months of their fiscal year are such leaders in their industries as American Telephone & Telegraph, Firestone and General Tire, International Harvester, Chesapeake & Ohio and Illinois Central railroads, Korvette, Corning Glass, Avco, Carrier, Fedders, Dresser Industries, Kroger.

Started in Late '62

For many corporations the big spurt in profits started in the final months of last year. Manufcturing firms averaged 25 per cent increases in the fourth quarter over their profits in the preceding three months. The October-November-December results were about 8 per cent better than in the final months of 1961.

Government figures show manufacturing after-tax profits for all of 1962 came to $17.7 billion, up 16 per cent over the previous year, and topping the previous record of $16.3 billion set in 1959.

The profits were made on record sales of $389.4 billion, a 9 per cent gain over the previous high set the year before.

Scan Early Reports

But the stock market is more interested in the profit prospects than in the past it already knows. So it is scanning closely the first-quarter reports just beginning to flow in volume. And it is paying heed to predictions made at the annual meetings, already under way and reaching a peak by the end of the month.

The early reports show far more profit advances than retreats. And the predictions—even with allowance for the compulsion of corporate heads to comfort the shareowners—are much rosier than this time a year ago.

The word "boom" isn't mentioned. But "more and better" are.

Youth Vs. Middle Age

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Who, being middle-aged, would ever want to be young again?

When you're young you wait impatiently at life's second table to be served. When you're middle-aged you point pontifically at the roast beef as it comes hot from the oven and say, "I'll have a slice there."

Know How to Pick, Choose

That's the big advantage of being middle-aged. You know better how to pick and choose among life's various possibilities. You learn to prefer durable contentments to present dismays.

It is the dream of youth to gallop toward every goal. It is a satisfaction of middle age to appreciate any distance you no longer have to march.

Youth eagerly tries to lift itself up by its bootstraps. Middle age would rather take its shoes off and rest on the sofa.

Youth believes you can mail away a box top with a quarter and you'll get something back that will make life greater, happier or better. Middle age prefers to hold on to the quarter.

When the sap flows freely in the ambitious sapling, it tries desperately to climb the sun. When the sap flows slower, the older tree is glad enough to be able to hold up its arms and take the climate as it comes.

The young dog winces and cries in the throes of puppy love. His elder watches the pretty ones go by, sighs reminiscently, and is grateful that a gay old dog can't be taught new tricks.

In youth one chases the horizon from dawn to dusk. In middle age one goes to bed before midnight comfortably sure that by morning the horizon will still be safely there to admire, no more perilously near than before.

When young, one feels the urge to write long and passionate love letters. As age takes its toll, one takes a nostalgic delight in reading someone else's foolish letters in the tabloids while munching a sandwich.

Youth is a desperate struggle in uncertainty; middle age is a thoughtful yawn of knowledge.

Youth doubts; age knows.

There is no place that youth feels it can't get to. There is no place that middle age would rather be than here.

Youth argues with the wife; age just turns off the hearing aid and sits back and listens.

The young man wonders if he can ever pile up enough money. The older man feels pretty sure he can't.

Youth can't wait to be hurt; age recoils from pain by remembering days of gladness.

To the young the day is swift and the years seem long. To those older, each day is a forever but the years fleet by on invisible wings—so that afterward he never is quite sure where they flew.

Who, being middle-aged, would ever want to be young again?

Dutchess Methodists To Vote New Church

Members of the Washington Street-Hedding Methodist Church, Poughkeepsie, will vote at a congregational meeting May 5 at 3 p. m. on final approval of plans for a community Methodist Church in New Hackensack.

Plans have been approved by the Department of Architecture of the Division of National Missions of the Board of Missions of the Methodist Church. The seven-acre tract will provide ample parking facilities.

The sanctuary will seat 300 persons in the nave and 50 in the balcony over the narthex, plus 50 in the choir section which will be within the chancel.

The church plans to use some of the facilities for a weekday nursery school. The educational sectional provides classrooms to accomodate 200 students at one time.

Shokan Area Churches Receive New Members

New members were received into full church membership on Palm Sunday at the Shokan Reformed Church. Those uniting with the church on confession of faith were Thomas E. Stamp of Kingston; George A. Aspinall of Brown Station; Janet L. Hausner of Ashokan; and Joseph J. Hausner of Ashokan.

New members received at the Shandaken Reformed Church of Mt. Tremper on Palm Sunday were Mark L. Hoyt, Lindsay R. Hoyt, Jonathan C. Hoyt all of Mt. Pleasant, and Christina Gardner of Boiceville. All were received on confession of faith. Following the worship service, a reception was given in honor of the new members in the church hall by the Mt. Tremper Church Guild.

Registration Is Open for Jewish Camp Jay Cee Cee

The first registration for the 1963 camping season was announced today by Mrs. Edward Weissman, chairman of the Camp Jay Cee Cee committee. Mrs. Weissman said that Eric Berger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Berger, 80 Stahlman Place, was the "early bird camper" this year. A camper for the past three years at Jay Cee Cee, he was presented with a camp shirt in recognition of his registration.

Camp Jay Cee Cee is the day camp sponsored by the Kingston Jewish Community Center and is only four miles from the uptown center of Kingston on Old Hurley Mountain. Last season, 134 campers attended the eight week summer program. On July 1, the camp will open its doors for the 12th straight year. The campsite has a large outdoor swimming pool, bathhouse, a large pavillion area, 30 acres of play space and athletic fields, and a hundred wooded acres. Girls who attend the day camp are sheltered in screened bunk houses and the boy campers will be housed this year in a new large pyramidal tents.

Membership in the Jewish Community Center is not mandatory for campers and parents interested in having their children between the ages of 4 and 13 years of age participate in the program are invited to contact Camp Director Robert Kurland at the Center.

Good Old Fatso

NEWARK, N. J. (AP)—Mrs. Jeanne Kunkel, a grandmother and part-time cashier, raises pedigreed cats in a loft. She has 30 cats being groomed as pets or as show animals. What began as an impulse now takes up a good part of her every day. On her first visit to a cat exhibition, she fell for a blue persian and bought him for $40 for a pet. A few years later she bought a female blue persian. Mrs. Kunkel now enters several cats in competition herself. Her current pride is a champion silver persian officially dubbed Wequahic Silver Sonata, although he answers to Fatso around the house.

Miller Is Choice As Ford Leader; Former 'Whiz Kid'

DETROIT (AP)—Arjay R. Miller, a scholarly appearing Nebraskan with a strong background in finance, was named president of Ford Motor Co. today.

Miller succeeds John Dykstra who is retiring because of age. Dykstra will be 65 next week.

Charles H. Patterson, who has been vice president of Ford's basic manufacturing group, was named to the long-vacant post of executive vice president.

Second to Reach Top

Miller, 47, was one of Ford's original whiz kids, a group of 10 Air Force statistical officers who joined the automaker in a body during its postwar reorganization.

He is the second from the group to reach the top spot. The first was Robert S. McNamara, who served two months in 1960 defore moving to Washington to become secretary of defense.

Although conforming strictly to the standard auto industry practice of retirement at 65, confirmation of Dykstra's impending departure was regarded as a mild surprise. He became president two years ago this month. At that time Ford spokesmen indicated to questioners he might not quit automatically when he reached his 65th birthday.

Board Chairman Henry Ford II told a questioner Tuesday Dykstra will retire this month.

Pay Hike Gone, And Salary, Too

FRANKLIN, Tenn. (AP) — Williamson County's magistrates started out to vote themselves a pay raise, as authorized by the 1963 legislature. They wound up without the pay they already had.

The legislature authorized them to raise their pay from $2.50 a meeting to $10. The magistrates for one day meet every three months.

During a discussion of the proposed pay hike, someone said the county could not afford the added expense. One magistrate suggested that "since the county is so broke," each magistrate agree to return the $2.50 he now receives to the general fund.

The motion carried.

Rusk to Report On Progress of NATO Force Plan

PARIS (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk and four of his European colleagues joined delegates of the North Atlantic Council today for a defense discussion concerned mostly with NATO nuclear strategy.

Hints Paris Interest

The presence of French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville gave a hint of greater French interest in the idea of a multination nuclear force. There was no sign, however, that President Charles de Gaulle was reversing his basic opposition to the plan.

Foreign Secretary Lord Home of Britain, Foreign Minister Gerhard Schroeder of West Germany and Foreign Minister Atilio Piccioni of Italy also participated in the session, a regular weekly meeting of permanent ambassadors of the 15-nation alliance.

The chief item was the proposed international nuclear combat force under NATO command which has been denounced by the Russians as a plan that would expand the rocket-nuclear arms race and spread the danger of war.

To Study Soviet Protest

Rusk was to give the cooucil a progress report on the nuclear force plan. Also high on the agenda was a 5,000-word Soviet diplomatic note denouncing one phase of the plan particularly—a $5 billion fleet of fast merchant ships armed with Polaris nuclear missiles.

"If NATO warships were to begin poking around the seas disguised by flags of commerce," the Soviet note said, "this would be practically equivalent to an undeclared state of war."

The Soviet note charged the whole plan was designed to arm West Germany with nuclear weapons and would trigger a new spurt in the nuclear arms race. It implied that nonnuclear nations which joined in the plan could expect to be hit by Soviet rockets in case of an East-West war.

U.S. Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara flew to London to confer with British defense officials on the NATO nuclear plans.

To Ask Supreme Court on Jury Trial for Barnett

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—The U.S. Supreme Court has been asked to decide if Gov. Ross Barnett of Mississippi is entitled to trial by jury in the criminal contempt proceedings stemming from his efforts to block the enrollment of a Negro at the University of Mississippi.

The 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals deadlocked 4-4 over the issue Tuesday and asked the Supreme Court to decide if the 64-year-old governor could be tried by jury as he had asked.

"It is much less important, in the judicial scheme of things, that Gov. Barnett should escape being fined or jailed for his publicly demonstrated contempt of a valid order of this court than that he should be denied the jury trial which he has demanded," wrote Circuit Judge Warren L. Jones of Jacksonville, Fla.

Dentist Reports Injections Can Be Without Pain

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—A recently developed surface anesthetic now permits dentists to give actual pain-free injections, an Army dentist reports.

Col. Robert B. Shira, chief of oral surgery at Walter Reed Army Hospital in Washington, told the Arkansas Dental Association Tuesday that the surface anesthetic, a thin plastic sheet or film, is applied directly to the gums.

The film dissolves rapidly, producing profound surface anesthesia, he said.

Hibbler to Lead Another March In 'Bama City

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Blind Negro singer Al Hibbler said he would lead another racial demonstration in Birmingham today because "police segregated me from my own yesterday and would not arrest me."

"That is segregation to its highest level," he told about 350 Negroes attending a rally Tuesday night.

Hibbler was picked up as he marched in front of a downtown department store. After he identified himself, he was released with an apology.

Police arrested 20 Negro demonstrators and a white man who identified himself as Carl Keith of Evanston, Ill. Keith said he is a pacifist.

The arrests Tuesday brought the total in the 7-day-old integration campaign to 112.

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. of Atlanta, another leader of the integration movement, and Abernathy said they would not demonstrate today.

"Since they wouldn't arrest Mr. Hibbler, we're going to give him another chance," he said. "Our day has been set back until Thursday."

Hibbler told the rally other Negro entertainers are coming to Birmingham to aid in the desegregation campaign.

"It's going to be two blind cats and a wildcat—Ray Charles, Al Hibbler and Sammy Davis Jr.," he said.

Jet Was Under

that, by flipping a switch, the controlling ground team could have limited the images on the radar screen to the jet and its target. Otherwise, he said, all flying objects in the vicinity of the jet could have been visible on the screen.

He said, however, he did not know what the ground team saw on its screen.

William Capp, an investigator for the Federal Aviation Agency, said his organization had not yet received a statement from the Air Force pilot.

The near miss occurred at about 22,000 feet over a point about five miles northwest of Syracuse.

Capp said the airliner was traveling at about 425 miles an hour in a southwesterly direction. The pilot, Capt. M. T. Biedermann of Ann Arbor, Mich., was flying the plane manually, instead of by automatic pilot, because of turbulence, Capp said.

The captain and another crewmen saw the lights of the jet briefly, Capp reported. It was approaching them in a climb turn from their right, he said, and traveling at about the same speed or perhaps faster than the airliner.

Capp said it was difficult to determine how close the planes came to each other.

He said he did not know what caused the near-collision.

He said the full story probably would not be learned for three or four days.

10-Day Strike Ends At Gloversville

GLOVERSVILLE, N.Y. (AP)—Peace was reached today in a 10-day-old strike that had idled 3,000 workers in the area's glove industry.

Members of the striking union, Local 1714, Consolidated Glove Cutters and Shavers, voted 259-97 in favor of a contract calling for an increase of 7 cents an hour over a two-year period, plus fringe benefits.

Members of two non-striking unions followed suit. The operators and day hands branch, United Glove Workers, voted 461-66. The layers-off branch of the Glove Workers voted 50-6.

Reducing Costly GrainSurplusMay Be Lower in '63

WASHINGTON (AP) The administration's feed grain program for 1963 may accomplish less than its 1961 and 1962 predecessors in reducing a costly surplus of these grains

This possibility was raised by an Agriculture Department report issued today. The government is seeking to reduce supplies by offering payments and price supports to farmers who divert a part of their feed grain land from corn, sorghum grain and barley.

The report showed that farmers had signed to divert 25.7 million acres of these grains to non-crop use this year. They would earn payments on the idled acres totaling about $940 million. Last year farmers signed to idle 29.5 million acres but actual diversion was about 10 per cent less.

By Oct. 1, reserve and surplus supplies of feed grains are expected to be down to 61 million tons, or an average reduction of 11.8 million tons a year during 1961 and 1962 marketing years.

But production prospects for this year were said to be almost as large as probable demands.

Mother, Children Hurt Near Marlboro

A woman and her three children received minor injuries at 3:25 p. m., when the car in which they were riding went into a ditch off Hudson Terrace east of Rout 9W, Marlboro, according to Highland State Police.

The car was driven by Mrs. Ruth Aurigemma, 27, of Marlboro. Passengers in the car were her children, Patricia, 5, James, 7, and Rose Marie, 3.

Troopers issued a summons to the driver of another vehicle on a charge of failing to keep to the right. He was Steven Dembeck, of Highland Mills.

Mrs. Aurigemma told troopers the oncoming car forced her to drive into the ditch.

Succumbs After Wife Turned Him Into Human Torch

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Cornelius Quicksey, 37, died today. Police said his wife, Leola, 36, threw a cup of cigarette-lighter fluid on him several weeks ago and set it ablaze with a match.

Quicksey was burned over 50 per cent of his body Feb. 3. He died in Buffalo General Hospital.

Police said his wife was angry after a domestic quarrel and threw the lighter fluid on Quicksey as he dozed on a living-room sofa. Neighbors helped beat out the flames.

Mrs. Quicksey had been free in bail on a charge of second-degree assault. Detectives said a new charge would be filed, but did not specify what it would be.

Rail Cars Derail

READING CENTER, N.Y. (AP) —Fourteen cars of a 65-car New York Central Railroad freight train left the tracks early today, a mile east of this Schuyler County community north of Elmira. No one was injured.

Railroad officials said an angle bar, which joins sections of rail, had been broken and caused the derailment.

The train was enroute from Syracuse to Williamsport, Pa.

Memoriam

In loving memory of our son and brother, Robert J. Sauers, who passed away three years ago today, April 10, 1960.
Today recalls that sad day
Time and years roll swiftly by
But memories last.
The flowers we place upon your grave
May wither and decay;
But our love for you who sleeps beneath
Will never fade away.

Calls Leaders Rabblerousers

Birmingham Official Says Folks Talked Into Jail

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Eugene Connor wears his nickname "Bull" with pride. Standing on a sidewalk yelling for dogs to halt Negro demonstrations—his eyes flashing—he is one of Alabama's stormiest political figures.

He is an ardent segregationist and public safety commissioner at Birmingham, which finds itself caught up in mushrooming racial troubles.

He has vowed to fill Birmingham's jail with integrationists. Since racial demonstrations began last Wednesday, 96 Negroes have been jailed.

How He Got Name

He got his nickname because of the booming voice he used in announcing baseball games for a Birmingham radio station more than 20 years ago.

A demonstration last Saturday flared into violence for about 15 seconds—the length of time it took Connor and policemen with dogs to rush into a crowd of about 200.

"If they want to go to jail, we'll put 'em there. Give 'em what they want. That's our motto."

Jails Former Senator

In 1950, Connor had former Sen. Glenn Taylor of Idaho jailed for violating a segregation law in a Birmingham visit. The U.S. Supreme Court ruled in Connor's favor.

"The mystery of the whole situation is how can these simple home folks be talked into going to jail by a bunch of rabblerousers?" he said.

"That's what they're doing—talking the people into jail. Then the leaders sit back, take it easy and plan who they're going to talk into jail next."

Decide to Keep Organ After It's Cleaned Out

VENEDY, Ill. (AP)—Parishioners of the San Salvator Lutheran church were undecided whether to buy a new organ or repair the old one which had been in the church balcony for 98 years.

They hired Richard Hosier, an organ builder, to tell them what to do.

Hosier dismantled the instrument. He found the skeletons of four birds, rafts of dead insects and a first-rate organ, hand-crafted 125 years ago in Germany and containing 891 wooden pipes.

Hosier estimated the organ was worth at least $20,000. The parishioners have decided to keep it.

DOG TRAINING WINNERS—Winners of Ulster Dog Training Club's 21st obedience graduation April 4 at the Recreation Center, 97 Broadway were (l-r bottom row) first place, Joan Wadsworth with Labrador retriever, Wendy; second, Alice Yoseman with dachshund, Schnitzel, who also won youngest handler award; third, Ralph Austin with Gordon setter, Shane; fourth, Donna Light with German shepherd, Ruffy. Top row, B division, (experienced handler), B. Binger with her 8½ month old German sheperd, Bromby won first place. A large audience witnessed an exhibition given by the intermediate and advance classes, under the direction of training director, Kathryn Seitz. The new beginner class will start April 10, 7:30 p. m. at the Recreation Center. Intermediate and advanced classes will resume April 17, 8:30 p. m. Castro 'Butcher' Can Be Deported, U.S. Court Rules

NEW YORK (AP) — The U.S. Court of Appeals ruled Tuesday that Herman F. Marks, executioner for Fidel Castro in Cuba, is a man without a country and can be deported.

Marks, a native of Milwaukee, Wis., was known as the "Butcher" for his work as a henchman of Castro after the present Cuban prime minister overthrew the government of Fulgencio Batista in 1959.

Marks, 41, lost his citizenship March 31, 1962 on a ruling by federal Judge John M. Cashin. However the jurist ruled that Marks was not a deportable alien.

He appealed the loss of his citizenship, and the government appealed that part of the ruling which said Marks was not deportable.

Judge Cashin had rejected the government's previous plea that Marks be deported to Mexico.

Now free on $2,500 bail, Marks is required to surrender to the Immigration and Naturalization Service within the next dew days, according to Roy Babitt, special assistant to the U.S. attorney.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy will determine the country to which Marks eventually will be deported.

Old Pal Routine

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Raymond Miller is going to take a long ,hard look the next time anyone professing to be an old friend wants to shake his hand. Miller, 53, was in a variety store recently when a man bumped into him, then greeted him like an old pal and insisted on shaking hands. Embarrassed at not remembering the man's face, Miller complied. Soon after the man walked off, Miller discovered a diamond ring valued at $245 was missing from his finger.

Strangest Items Lost on Thruway, 3,000 Per Year

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — People lose the strangest things — a premise the State Thruway's Lost and Found Department backs up with an odd assortment of items found along the 550-mile expressway.

For instance just in the past year, 31 paper mache goose heads five rifles, four Santa Clauses that play "Jingle Bells" when wound and a drum have been found.

They are just a few of the estimated 3,000 items discovered annualy.

Most Are Returned

Most of the articles are eventually returned to thir owners, but James Lobinger, head of the Lost and Found Department, said about 750 are never claimed.

In the past the unclaimed items have included an artificial leg a racing hydroplane and a $1,500 diamond ring.

The items are found just about everywhere along the Thruway Lobinger explained, but added that most of them turn up in the service areas.

The majority of lost articles are wrist watches, wallets pocketbooks, eye glasses clothing, suit cases and rings, Lobinger said.

Most Pretty Careful

But Lobinger does not feel that the traveling public is careless.

"There were over 33 million trips on the Thruway last year," he said "and when that many people use the road and don't lose any more than they do it would seem that most of them are pretty careful."

Lobinger explained that the found articles are turned over to the State Police and an attempt is made to find the owner.

If the owner cannot be located, the item, if valued at $500 or less is held for six months, and then the finder is eligible to claim it. If the item is worth more than $500, but less than $5,000 it must be held for one year before the finder can make a claim and the item must be kept for three years if it is valued at over $5,000.

State Police who often find articles during their patrols, are not allowed to make a claim on lost goods.

If the finder does not claim the article it is put up for sale and the public is invited to submit sealed bids, Lobinger said.

Ice Delays 20 Vessels

MONTREAL (AP) — The St. Lawrence River between Montreal and Quebec continued to be blocked Tuesday by ice jams holding up an estimated 20 vessels.

The ships are tied up at Quebec City and Trois Rivieres, waiting for the passage upstream to Montreal to clear. Several ships in Montreal also have been prevented from sailing for overseas.

The main block is located at Lanoraie, Que. 20 miles downstream from Montreal, where a late-season rush of ice piled up at the entrance of the main shipping channe.

Federal transport officials estimate that the delayed ships will be able to sail by Wednesday.

NAACP Leader To Direct Study Of Home Rules

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) Hubert T. Delany of New York City, a director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, will direct a state study of ways of improving low-income housing programs.

Gov. Rockefeller named Delany Monday to the chairmanship of a new state commission that the governor said would conduct a needed "over-all review" and "determine the extent to which private enterprise may help meet the needs for low-income housing."

Rockefeller also named two other members of the five-member commission and the Republican legislative leaders each named one.

In announcing his appointments, Rockefeller said there was "considerable public concern" that low income housing programs were not "fully achieving" their objectives.

Delany is a former justice of the Domestic Relations Court.

Other Rockefeller appointees are Lewis M. Isaacs Jr. of New York City, chairman of the City Bar Association's Committee on Housing and Urban Development, and Harry Held of Great Neck, senior vice president of the Bowery Savings Bank.

Senate Majority Leader Walter J. Mahoney appointed Charles J. Wick of Eggertsville, administrative vice president of Niagara Mohawk Power Corp. and president of the Community Welfare Council of Buffalo and Erie County.

Thomas P. Van Arsdale of Flushing, Queens, a member of the executive board of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, was named to the commission by Assembly Speaker Joseph F. Carlino.

The commission is to present its recommendations to the governor and legislature by Dec. 31. It has a $25,000 appropriation.

Members of the commission receive no salaries.

Disease Tapering But Still Baffles Maryland Experts

PRINCESS ANNE, Md. AP)—Dr. John H. Janney, a Maryland Health Department official said today a mysterious disease which has afflicted about 1,800 persons on Maryland's Eastern Shore seems to be tapering off.

The unidentified ailment continues to baffle the experts, said Dr. Janney.

Most of the affected persons live in the fishing community of Dames Quarter in Somerset County. Dr. Everett C. Sutter, who has treated most of the affected persons, contracted the disease last week.

The disease is characterized by dizziness, high fever, headaches, enlargment of the lymph glands and tenderness of the spleen and liver. Antibiotics have proved ineffective, Sutter said. Bed rest is about all he prescribes.

Blood samples are being studied at the National Institutes of Health at Bethesda, Md., which specializes in virus diagnosis, Janney said, but the results will not be known for a week or 10 days.

Sutter, the only doctor in Dames Quarter, is in satisfactory condition at a hospital in Salisbury. He was stricken with severe abdominal pains last week while treating a patient.

The disease appeared in mid-December, hitting its peak in mid-January.

Denies Stabbing Charge

LOCKPORT, N.Y. (AP) — George E. Ferrell, 21, has pleaded innocent to a charge of first-degree manslaughter in a stabbing outside a pool hall in Niagara Falls Feb. 8.

Ferrell, accused of stabbing 20 year-od Benjamin C. McNeil of Niagara Falls during a street fight, entered the plea at his arraignment Monday in Niagara County Court.

Even With Change to Liberals

Ottawa-U.S. Friction Won't End Overnight

By MAX HARRELSON

TORONTO (AP) — Despite the confusion surrounding the outcome of Monday's election, it seems likely that Prime Minister John G. Diefenbaker can at best only delay the formation of a Liberal government.

Working for Months

In order to maintain his Conservative government in power, Diefenbaker would have to have the support of both the right-wing Social Credit party and the left-wing New Democrats. This does not appear probable.

If and when Liberal party leader Lester B. Pearson gets the bid to form a government, he is prepared to launch a blitz attack on a half-dozen urgent problems, including the sagging U.S.-Canadian relations.

His prospective Cabinet members have been working for months on economic, financial, defense and foreign policy problems. Pearson has indicated he aims to follow the pattern on the famous 100 days of the New Deal in Washington.

The 65-year-old Nobel Prize winner has stressed over and over that he wants to pursue a good neighbor policy. He says he deplores anti-Americanism and what he calls "plucking the eagle's feathers."

Anti-Americanism was injected into the campaign, primarily by the Conservatives, but Diefenbaker insisted it was pro-Canadianism. The vote did not give any clear sign that the issue had influenced the decision.

Patching Up Task

Mandate or no mandate, Pearson is expected to put a priority tag on the task of patching up the tradition of friendship with the United States.

It would be a mistake, however, to conclude that the days of friction between Ottawa and Washington will end with the formation of a Liberal government. Both defense and economic differences are too wide for immediate solution.

The question of accepting nuclear warheads raises immediate difficulties. Although Pearson declared during the campaign that he favored accepting the warheads to the extent necessary to carry out Canada's commitments, he has never been enthusiastic about having nuclear weapons on Canadian soil. Until last January he was publicly opposing such a step.

FOOD FOR AMERICANS

Bean Dishes Are Teen-age Treat

WOLFING teen-agers—twins or no—will enjoy a dinner of beans, which is said to be one of their favorite foods.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Easter vacation will give teen-agers lots of time for some serious eating, so lay in a supply of one of their favorite foods, beans. But get some of the new canned beans and ground beef in barbecue sauce, barbecue beans, beans and franks in tomato sauce and pork and beans with tomato sauce. They come straight from your grocer's shelves to delight your wolfing teen-agers home from school.

Beans and Franks
New England Style
(2 to 3 servings)

One quarter cup finely chopped onion, 1 tablespoon butter or margarine, 1 can (1-pound) beans and franks in tomato sauce, 1 tablespoon maple syrup, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, ½ teaspoon dry mustard, 3 thin slices lemon.

In saucepan, cook onion in butter until tender. Add remaining ingredients except lemon. Heat, stirring now and then. Top with lemon slices.

Barbecue Beans Lunch
(2 to 3 servings)

One quarter cup chopped celery, 2 tablspoons chopped onion, 1 tablespoon butter, 1 pound can barbecue beans.

In skillet, cook celery and onion in butter until tender. Add beans; heat; stir now and then.

Beans and Beef Bowl
(2 to 3 servings)

1 (2-ounce) can sliced mushrooms, drained; 2 tablespoons chopped green onion, 1 tablespoon butter or margarine, 1 pound can beans and ground beef in barbecue sauce.

In saucepan, brown mushrooms with onion in butter. Add beans and ground beef. Heat, stirring now and then.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The prestigious television documentary and public affairs show has developed into a vehicle to explore the big, the serious, the important, issue. Although many of them are very well done, the viewer wishes they could be lightened occasionally by humor or by a subject less vital than life or death.

CBS' News Department in one of its far-too-rare sallies into the yeasty areas of life, promises just such a program Thursday night. It is called "In the Mouth of the Wolf," and is a documentary about Parma, Italy, which has such a passion for and knowledge about opera that it can only be compared with Brooklyn's former feelings about the Dodgers.

During Parma's grand opera season, a performer is allowed just one mistake. Groans are heard after a second and if there are three, the unhappy singer is whistled off stage. Everyone, from the cop on the corner to the mayor is a self-style expert.

Jay Sheers, the CBS producer who prowled through the opera-mad community to make the program, is fascinated by such phenomena—"things that get people excited beyond all reasonable standards."

CBS willing, he would like to inject a little more levity in the documentary field: the middle-class Britisher's trek to oceanside Blackpool for his summer holiday; the provincial Frenchman's passion for the "Folies Bergere," and the American love for conventions.

NBC's Huntley-Brinkley evening news show goes to a half-hour in September, and moves to 7 p.m. (EST) for a toe-to-toe battle with CBS' Walter Cronkite, doing his news at the same time.

Recommended tonight: "Encyclopedia of Communism," NBC, 7:30-9 (EST)—last of a series on the Soviet way, with Chet Huntley narrating; "In the Mouth of the Wolf," CBS, 7:30-8:30.

Dress-up Pointers

When you shop for a dress, be sure to examine the hem depth and seams, and be sure that the dress is lined if the skirt is straight. The hem should be at least 1½ inches deep, and seams should be pinked to prevent fraying.

Special Easter Services Set at Nazarene Church

NEW PALTZ—A Good Friday service will be held at the Church of the Nazarene, New Paltz at 7:30 p. m., the speaker for the service will be the Rev. Olney E. Cook, president of the Hudson Valley Evangelical Ministerial Association. Holy Communion will be observed at the close of the service.

Sunday morning service will begin at 9:45 a. m. with the Sunday school presenting an Easter program and closing with a brief message by the pastor, the Rev. Oliver Wirth.

Plan Community Book

The New Paltz Huguenot Grange is preparing a community events and date book for the benefit of the community. The books will be available early in the fall and will be free of charge.

Organizations may list their regular and special meeting dates for this 1964 book, and include all necessary information and mail or phone same to Mrs. John Schreiber, Route 1, Box 97, New Paltz.

UN Program Given

A good attendance was reported at the 20th Century Club meeting Sunday evening in the Fireside Room of the Reformed Church Education Building.

The subject of the program was The UN in Today's World. Two films of the American Association for the United Nations of Larchmont were shown through the courtesy of the local League of Women Voters.

These films provided answers to many questions as to where the UN money goes when such crises as that in the Congo occur.

Members of the League of Women Voters were on hand to give brief introductions to the films and to lead discussions after. The films were shown by Robert Holliday of the local college.

Dessert was served prior to the meeting.

Why We Say--

COLLECTION OF HUTS: According to a popular theory it was through that when the Frenchman Cartier explored the North, Indian guides pointed out huts or lodges as "Kanata," an Indian word for hut. The explorer believed it was the name of the country and passed it on to others who came later. The story has not been verified, but it is reasonably certain that the word Canada is taken from the Indian word meaning a collection of huts.

Loser on Loser Makes Contract

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

North has a sound raise to two hearts and South has plenty for his jump to game but the cards lie wrong for declarer and if West opens the jack of spades South will have no play for his contract.

Fortunately for declarer, West opens the jack of diamonds. South covers with dummy's queen. For all he knows West may have led from king-jack-ten. East produces the king and it is now up to South to proceed carefully if he wants to make the hand.

As a starter, South should let the king of diamonds hold that first trick. East will probably lead a diamond back. Now there is no defense.

South takes his ace. After drawing trumps he goes after the clubs to see if the suit will break to allow him to discard a spade. The clubs fail to break, but now South is able to make the hand by the use of the play known as "loser on loser."

South leads dummy's last club. East plays his jack and South discards a low spade.

East is in the lead with the second defensive trick and is now forced to lead either a spade or a diamond. A spade lead makes dummy's king good, while a diamond allows South to ruff in dummy and discard one of his two remaining spades.

Would Relieve Elderly Of Capital-Gains Tax

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Howard W. Robison, R-N.Y., says Congress should eliminate the payment of a capital-gains tax by persons 65 or older who sell their homes but do not reinvest the profit in another.

Under present law the capital gains tax on a private home sold for profit can be avoided only if the profit is invested in a more expensive home within one year.

Robison introduced a bill Monday designed to help persons over 65 who want to sell their homes and use the profit to supplement their retirement income.

St. Lawrence Rail Service Must Be Kept Up: Ruling

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The Public Service Commission refused today to permit the New York Central Railroad to abandon passenger service on its St. Lawrence Division, which runs from Syracuse to Massena via Watertown.

In doing so, the PSC released a report by an examiner who declared that the railroad's on-time performance on the division was "disgraceful" and that nothing had been done to encourage the public to use the trains.

"The failure of the railroad to provide adequate and proper service may not be used as a basis on which it may be allowed to discontinue passenger service," said Examiner Russell E. Dunn.

The Central operates one "Beeliner" daily in each direction, except Sunday. In seeking to drop the service, the railroad said the average number of passengers per trip was between seven and eight. The Central said it lost $76,300 on the service during the 12-month period that ended last July 31.

The railroad's plan to end service drew vigorous opposition from north country residents and public officials in the area. They argued that patronage had fallen off because of poor service.

Dunn reported that the running time of the trains had become steadily slower in recent years and that their monthly on-time performance had fallen as low as 23 per cent.

Dunn also reported that the railroad had refused to submit evidence at the hearing to show whether it was making or losing money from its freight service on the division. He said this information was relevant to determine whether passenger-service losses were "unduly burdensome."

He concluded that the railroad's proposal therefore could not be accepted. The PSC adopted his recommendation.

Leibhardt

LEIBHARDT — Easter services and baptism will be conducted at the Leibhardt Methodist Church Sunday at 2:30 p. m. by the Rev. Paul Babich of Kerhonkson.

Mrs. Theodore Decker, daughter of Mrs. Ruth Consoloni has been a patient at Albany Hospital following surgery.

Miss Erma Hornbeck has returned to Lake Minnewaska.

Fred Corchia of New York City spent the weekend at his home here.

The ladies of this community will hold a bake sale at the Herbert Poppel Store Saturday beginning at 10 a. m. There will be a variety of foods for sale. Proceeds will benefit the Leibhardt Church.

Mrs. Florence Wynkoop will be spending the summer months at the Hornbeck home during the absence of her sister, Erma.

John Distal of Ellenville spent Saturday morning with Homer Hornbeck who is convalescing at his home.

On Leave

WILLIAM C. WIEGERT

After basic training at Fort Gordon, Ga., William C. Wiegert is spending a two-week leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl A. Wiegert Sr., of 80 Bruyn Avenue. While at the Georgia camp he received a medal for sharp shooting. Following his leave the local soldier will report to Fort Sill, Okla., for a course in electronics.

Plattekill

PLATTEKILL — Mr. and Mrs. Bruce A. Miller of Rosendale are parents of a daughter, born recently in the Benedictine Hospital, Kingston. Mrs. Miller is the former Maureen Fleming of Plattekill.

Miss Carolyn Sisti, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Sisti Jr., and a senior in the Wallkill Central High School, has been accepted for entrance by the Fashion Institute of Technology, New York City, in the fashion illustration class. Miss Sisti is one of 50 students chosen from 500 applicants.

Miss Mary Turner of Seaford, L.I., has been employed by the Wallkill Central School Board to teach first and second grade in the Plattekill Elementary School.

The members of the Methodist Youth Fellowship of the Plattekill Methodist Church will hold an Easter sunrise service in the church hall, followed by an Easter breakfast. Proceeds will go to the MYF camp fund. Ticket chairmen are the Rev. Carl O. Hartman and Arthur Serikstad.

Smith Elected Vols Chief for Sixteenth Term

MODENA—The Modena Firemen held their annual election of officers Thursday evening in the firehouse.

Eldred Smith was re-elected chief for the 16th consecutive year, William Goehren first assistant; and William DePew, second assistant.

Fred Riley was elected captain; Ronald A. Wager, first lieutenant; Arnold Andersen, second lieutenant; fire police chief, Dan Riley; first assistant, Ken Dimsey.

Wardens, Charles Henry, Harold West, William Hoffman; delegates to the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association, re-elected, Ken Dimsey and Gordon Rhodes; alternates, William Goehren, Joseph O. Hasbrouck.

Trustees for three years, Roy Jensen; two years (to fill unexpired term of J. Leonard Coy, who moved to New Paltz) Joseph O. Hasbrouck; one year. James E. Palen.

Members of the fire police squad, Ernest Gierisch, Max Meyers, Harold W. Wager, DuBois Grim, Albert Molson, Harold West, Roy Jensen, Thomas Dawes.

Gordon Rhodes reported on the banquet committee, that the date of the annual dinner will be held Saturday evening, May 25, in the Oddo House, between Clintondale and Highland. Tickets are available, and reservations should be made as early as possible.

The phone stickers will be distributed at the Modena Firehouse, Sunday April 21, at 1:30 p. m.

Richard Abbott and Ken Dimsey reported on the radiological session held recenlty in the New Paltz High School, which they attended.

The invitation to participate in the annual Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's parade to be held in Saugerties in July, was received and accepted.

Chief Smith reported that a trip to New York harbor is planned by the Ulster County Fire Chief's Association, to view firefighting equipment.

The bus, transporting the firemen will leave Kingston at 6 a. m., and New Paltz at 6:45 a. m., May 5.

Those making the trip are advised to make reservations at an early date.

In order that future instructions in radiological equipment may be arranged by Richard Abbott, at the Modena Firehouse, a greater attendance by local firemen is absolutely necessary.

A successful experiment was made at the fire drill Monday evening, in setting up a portable water supply tank, which will eventually supply as much as two thousand gallons of water, at the scene of a fire.

Firemen were called Friday to the Ardonia section, where a brush fire on the Mount farm was proving dangerous, and was extinguished before major damage was done.

Firemen urge people to use caution in starting fires, when weather conditions may cause life and property damage.

Installation of officers will be conducted at the next meeting of the fire department Thursday, May 2, at 8 p. m. in the firehouse.

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Modena Fire Department will hold a card party Tuesday, April 30, at 8 p. m. in the firehouse.

Mrs. John Scofield of Walden, and Mrs. Burton Ward, visited Mr. and Mrs. Edward Jacoby and family in LaGrangeville, Thursday.

It was announced by Cub Master Donald Wilson that a trip for the Pack has been planned for April 13, to visit the Ulster County Jail.

Jaycees Announce Leading Farmers In U. S. for 1962

TULSA, Okla. (AP) Contestants from Wyoming, Minnesota, North Carolina and Illinois were named Monday night the "outstanding young farmers for 1962" by the U.S. Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Winners, picked from a group of 43 state selections, were:

Robert L. Alcott, 35, Worland, Wyo., operator of a 560-acre farm, on which he raises lambs.

Eldon C. Weber, 32, Geneseo, Ill., who raises cattle, hogs and Christmas trees.

They were picked by 12 judges on the basis of progress in agricultural careers, extent of soil and natural - resource consetvation practices and significance of contributions to the community, state and nation.

$399,669 Contract Given

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Aviation Agency said Monday it had awarded a $399,669 contract to Cornell Aeronautical Laboratory, Buffalo, N.Y., for analyses of various proposed airplane systems in the government-industry program for research on a supersonic transport.

White House-Styled Mansion Giving Way for Elderly Folk

"Nostalgia," one observer might say.

But not just any old chandelier.

He was speaking of one which would be destined to survive the wake of progress in 20th-Century Kingston.

For, the chandelier, a flower of antiquity, is one of the last remnants of the famous Abramowitz mansion on Albany Avenue.

The once-haughty dame of architectural aristocracy, White House-styled and captivating as a passersby-attraction, is being razed to make way for construction of a senior citizen, low-rent housing project under supervision of the Kingston Housing Authority.

Under a loan and subsidy contract between the state and Kingston, the city purchased the mansion and its acreage extending to the Esopus Creek lowlands for erection of a 60-unit development for the city's elder citizenry.

Once Majestic Structure

Although the devotion to purpose—the accommodating of elderly people—seems most respectful, the $64,500 purchase price somehow injects a feeling of humiliation toward the once-majestic structure which has played host to prominent figures from all over the world.

Current taxes on the property were estimated at $2,400.

But, for $65,000 or any figure three times that—which it was estimated to get the mansion intact—"they just don't build 'em like that any more," as one obcerver put it.

In fact, an estimated $175,000 was reputedly spent to start the structure, which actually realized almost a quarter century before it was completed.

Construction reportedly began in 1913 when the previous owner, U.S. Senator George J. Smith took the property over from the Osterhoudt estate.

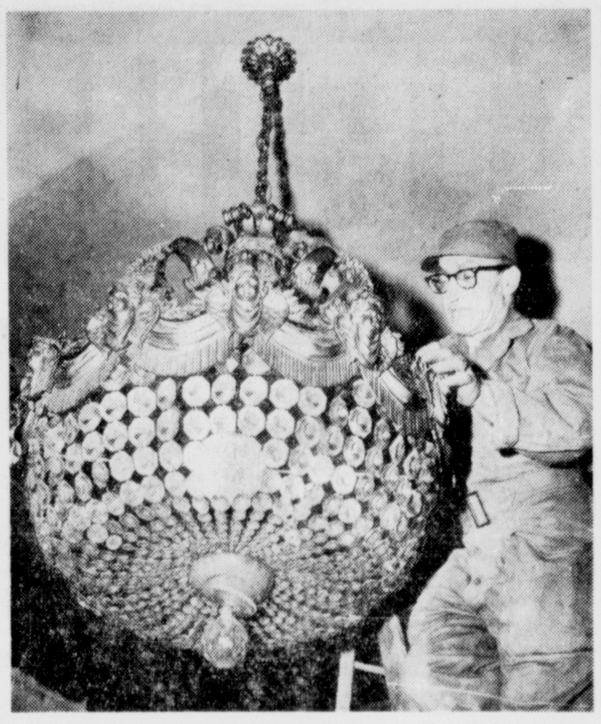

Purchased in 1921

Abramowitz' father, the late Scholom A. Abramowitz, regarded as a master furrier and artist in his craft from Paris to New York, purchased the property from the Smith estate in 1921, and not until 1936 was the mansion completed—up to its present demise.

Coincidentally, Scholom Abramawitz and Senator Smith had something in common with two steamships which are involvel in critical phases of American history.

Abramowitz was one of the survivors of the Lusitania which was sunk by a German submarine off the coast of Iceland on May 7, 1915.

Earlier, Senator Smith served aboard a Congressional committee that investigated the sinking of the steamship Titanic, which went down after striking an iceberg the night of April 14-15, 1912.

REMOVING ORNATE CHANDELIER—Henri B. Abramowitz mounted ladder at famed Abramowitz estate at 195 Albany Avenue to prepare for dismantling of huge gilt bronze and crystal chandelier. A son of Scholom Abramowitz, who completed construction of the noted Kingston landmark, Henri is participating in the work of stripping the property before it is razed to make way for construction of Kingston Housing Authority project for elderly citizens. According to Abramowitz, he plans to keep the chandelier, one of several removed for the dismantling work, as a "status symbol' when he moves into his new home, probably in Kingston suburbs. (Freeman photo)

Symbol of Status

Now, a shirtstleeved Henri Abramowitz, Purple Heart veteran of two wars and far removed from his native Paris, stood beneath the prized chandelier, which he said he would "keep as a status symbol," a reminder of days when living in style was an art in itself.

Abramowitz and his wife, Amalie, came from Latvia. They migrated to Paris at the turn of the century, and lived there 20 years before coming to this country, where Abramowitz practiced his trade in New York City and Kingston.

Art Done by German

In fact, another remnant of the mansion, a ceiling adorned with cherubic designs, was done by a German professor named Hegel, who was a friend of Abramowitz. The younger Abramowitz recalls that it once graced the showrooms of his father's salon on New York's 57th Street. It was brought to the Kingston mansion after the stock market crash of 1929, when the economy forced a great loss of customers in the considered lavish trade of the furrier.

It was such a turn of events, the necessity of keeping the family together, that caused Henri Abramowitz to break up what he planned to be a career in the U.S. Army.

He entered service in February, 1943. He served with the 60th Engineers Combat Battalion, won five battle stars and a purple heart at St. Lo in the Normandy Invasion.

Scholom Abramowitz died in 1947. Henri Abramowitz, serving with the rank of master sergeant, returned to duty when the Korean War broke out in 1951. He served with the 559th Engineer's Technical Intelligence team until 1953, when he retired from active service.

Henri's mother died in May, 1957 A brother, Max, died in March, 1960, and another brother, Abel, died in October the same year.

Abramowitz, involved in the tedious job of dismantling the once stately mansion at 195 Albany Avenue, can well recall the lucid days when his father and mother entertained guests from all over the world beneath that very same chandelier.

Made of gilded bronze and crystal, the chandelier was one of several brought here by the elder Abrawowitz when he came to Kingston 42 years ago.

Took Two Freight Cars

They were among the furnishings brought to the country when they left Paris in 1920. Actually, Henri Abramowitz recalls, it took two freight cars to bring the family's furnishings to their new American home.

The family left France in June, 1920 and moved to Long Island. In January, 1921, they took up residence in Kingston.

Now, Abramowitz said, practically all of the furnishings were in the process of being sold to dealers in New York City.

But, Abramowitz said, the chandelier, which has an estimated monetary value of $1,000, will stay with him when he moves—probably into a Kingston suburb.

The chandelier hung for years in the mansion's main dining room. Other similar chandeliers hung in the living room, parlors, library and reception room.

In Paris, Scholom Ambramowitz was known as a highly respected artist in his line of work. While in Paris, numerous prominent Americans came to him to have work done according to their taste.

Has Twin Brother

His other brothers, Joseph and Armand, live in New York and brother Jacques, his twin, lives in Brooklyn. In fact, his two sisters, Mrs. Louis Weiss, New York, and Mrs. Michael Kline, Chicago, are also twins.

Henri Abramowitz, Parisian-turned-American GI, moved from under the chandelier into a nearby room. He proudly displayed a large portrait of his late father, also brought from Paris.

It was apparent that the chandelier wasn't the only family heirloom which was going to be kept in the Kingston area.

Gets Computer Job

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—John L. Dorman of suburban Delmiar has been named director of electronic processing in the State Department of Audit and Control, State Comptroller Arthur Levitt reports.

Levitt said Tuesday that Dorman would be in charge of the new computer system to be used to issue state payroll checks and maintain appropriation accounts.

Add Two Corps To Competition Slated April 21

Two more leading musical units have signed to appear in the Hudson Valley Drum Corps Association competition scheduled for Sunday, April 21 at Kingston Municipal Auditorium.

The latest competitors are the Danbury Drum Corps of Danbury, Conn., and St. Anselms Fife, Drum and Bugle Corps of the Bronx.

The Danbury unit, a combination corps of 55 male members, has won the Connecticut State Championship, the Northeastern States Championship, and many trophies for its fine appearance at parades. The corps uses trumpets, and its repertoire of famous marches is complete.

St. Anselms Drum Corps has been a familiar sight in the metropolitan area since 1912 and has won many awards on the competition field.

Among these are the New York State Junior Fife, Drum, and Bugle Championship and the Hudson Valley Association Junior Championship. Its members have alson won many individual medals for their outstanding musical presentations.

More than 20 drum corps will participate in the competition, which will be similar to the one held at the auditorium in 1959. Tickets will be available at the door.

Crushed by Dozer

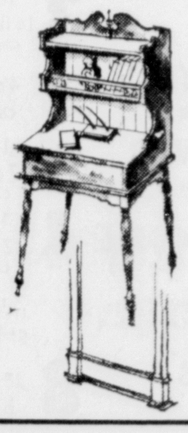

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—William R. Gillespie, 36, of nearby Tonawanda was killed Tuesday when he was crushed beneath a bulldozer he was loading on a truck at a construction site in Tonawanda.

Velma Grazier Is New President Of Bennett P-TA

New officers of the Regional Bennett P-TA at Onteora were installed at the final meeting of the 1962-63 school year. Mrs. Constance Vanni, a member of the Hudson Valley District P-TA board, conducted the installation.

New officers are: Mrs. Velma Grazier, Wittenberg, president; Mrs. Stanley Haug, Shokan, first vice president; Mrs. Linda Gray, Glenford, second vice president; Mrs. William Landesman, Phoenicia, recording secretary; Mrs. Gloria Herron, Allaben, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Roland Dunn, West Shokan, treasurer.

Mrs. Vanni also presented Mrs. Kahil with a P-TA president's pin and commended her for her accomplishments as first president of the Bennett P-TA. In reply, Mrs. Kahil thanked everyone for their wholehearted support. She expressed gratification with the accomplishments for the first year and particularly noted that the goal to help alleviate double session had been achieved with the passing of the recent bond issue.

Art Exhibit Discussed

Program chairman, Florence Epstein, presented Mrs. Nancy Maddocks, art instructor and director of the art exhibit currently being displayed in the corridors of the Bennett school.

Many compliments were overheard as parents inspected the work of many talented youngsters.

Not only is this display attractively presented, but it shows a lot of imagination, creativity and good direction. Many forms of art are represented — two and three dimensional, geometric, linoleum blocks, abstract, self-portraits and other media. The use of materials has also been employed.

Mrs. Maddocks spoke briefly, giving a resume of her methods and goals.

Musical Program

Mrs. Epstein presented Lawrence Stowe, director of instrumental music, who mentioned the many skills being taught the youngsters who begin their musical training in the first grade—such as note recognition and response to rhythm. A group of first graders demonstrated by hand clapping and use of the drum.

A group from Mrs. Slavik's class demonstrated their skills on the flutophone with "Twinkle, Twinkle, Little Star" and "This Old Man." The first instrument group was represented by the third graders of the morning session. Both morning and afternoon sessions through sixth grade were represented successively.

Stowe has also been working with a group of fourth and fifth graders, who had had no previous training. They played three numbers. As a finale the fifth and sixth graders who attend classes all day played: "Chorale," "How Can I Leave Thee," and "A Waltz." It was evident that Stowe has obtained excellent results with the youngsters. It is also interesting to follow the progress of these children from first grade who ultimately become the fine precision group of the fifth and sixth graders.

Methodist Church News and Notes

"The Risen Christ and a Doubting World" is the sermon topic for Easter Sunday at the Overlook Methodist Church, the Rev. James Cook, minister. At 9:45 a. m., there will be a special Sunday School program in the church hall for children and parents. Two film strips will be shown: Glad Easter Day and AD 29.

Rev. Cook will be the guest preacher at the Sunrise Service which will be held outside the Methodist Church in Shady.

Thursday evening there will be a Maundy Thursday service at 7:30 p. m. The Sacrament of Holy Communion will be administered. The public is invited to attend. The sermon topic will be, "Facing Up to Ourselves."

Last Sunday the following children were baptized by Rev. Mr. Cook; James Randall Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert N. Smith; and the following children of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Lewis, Elizabeth Thornton, Kimberly Taylor, and Jennifer Carol.

The following persons were received into the membership of Overlook Methodist Church: Mr. and Mrs. John Franz, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Large, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Lewis, Mr. James R. Myers, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Osterhoudt, Mrs. Louise Strout and Roger Strout.

Wiltwyck Boys Concert Is Hit For OCS Classes

Seven hundred cheering students from the ages of 5 through 12 clapped and stamped their approval of 14 extraordinary talented boys from Wiltwyck School for Boys in Esopus, who performed for 45 minutes on a variety of African and Caribbean steel drums in what may easily be described as this year's most popular assembly at the Bennett elementary school at Onteora.

The boys are students of Godwin Olewole, a Nigerian student now studying at New Paltz, and Mrs. Barbara Moncure, of Woodstock. Before the concert of African music began, Olewole explained each of the drums to the audience and talked briefly about African music, demonstrating very clearly the extremely complex rhythmic concepts underlying it. Mrs. Moncure shared the stage with the children during the Caribbean numbers and led the audience in the singing of several folk songs.

Credit for bringing the Wiltwyck musicians to Onteora goes to Mrs. Bernice St. Pierre, P-TA chairman of the Cultural Arts Committee. Testifying to the deep respect which the local children felt for the group was a spontaneous demonstration of applause that broke out in the cafeteria when the Wiltwyck boys came in later to have their lunch.

Christian Science Theme Is on Christ

The meaning for today of Christ Jesus' complete triumph over the flesh will be emphasized this Sunday at all Christian Science churches.

Golden Text: "There is therefore now no condemnation to them which are in Christ Jesus, who walk not after the flesh, but after the Spirit" (Romans 8:1).

The Bible Lesson is entitled, "Are Sin, Disease, and Death Real?" Related readings include this passage from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy (p. 233): "Every day makes its demands upon us for higher proofs rather than professions of Christian power. These proofs consist solely in the destruction of sin, sickness ,and death by the power of Spirit, as Jesus destroyed them."

Mary Baker Eddy Book Is Now in Paperback

A paperback edition will be published May 8 of one of the world's most-widely circulated religious books — "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy.

This is the book that for nearly 70 years has been read along with the Bible at all Christian Science church services, in place of sermons by ministers. Christian Scientists turn to it regularly for explanation of the Bible and religious inspiration.

Although this will be the first paperback edition of Science and Health, the book has already reached sales of several millions since it first appeared in 1875.

The new 700-page paperback, like all other editions of Science and Health, will be published by the Trustees under the Will of Mary Baker Eddy, in Boston. It will be distributed by Harper & Row, Inc., of New York, Evanston and London, to quality bookstores throughout the world; and also by the Publishers' Agent to Christian Science Reading Rooms.

Named Manager, Vice President Of Briggs Firm

JOHN PURVIS

J. Ellis Briggs today announced that John Purvis has joined the firm of Briggs Homes, Inc., as vice president and general manager. This new corporation is the franchised distributor for the Paragon Pre-cut Homes.

In addition to the complete home, this firm is also offering a new "One Stop Home Improvement Plan" which includes all types of alterations, garages, dormers, kitchens, bathrooms with one estimate, one contract and complete responsibility by one company for the entire improvement.

Purvis, a native Kingstonian, is the son of the well-known John N. Purvis, who for many years was superintendent of mails in Kingston. A graduate of Kingston High School, he attended the Lumber Training Institute at Syracuse University and the College of Engineering at the University of Maryland. His three years of military service was in the Pacific Theatre as a first lieutenant in the infantry. He was employed by Island Dock Lumber Company since 1939, his last position being that of exective vice president.

Purvis is a member of Rondout Lodge, No. 343, F&AM, and Joyce-Schirick Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars. He is vice president of Twaalfskill Country Club, an active member of the YMCA, the Fair Street Reformed Church. With his wife, Pauline, and two teenage daughters, Toni and Teri, he resides at 24 Catskill Avenue, Kingston.

Lack of Oxygen Is Blamed in Lab Death

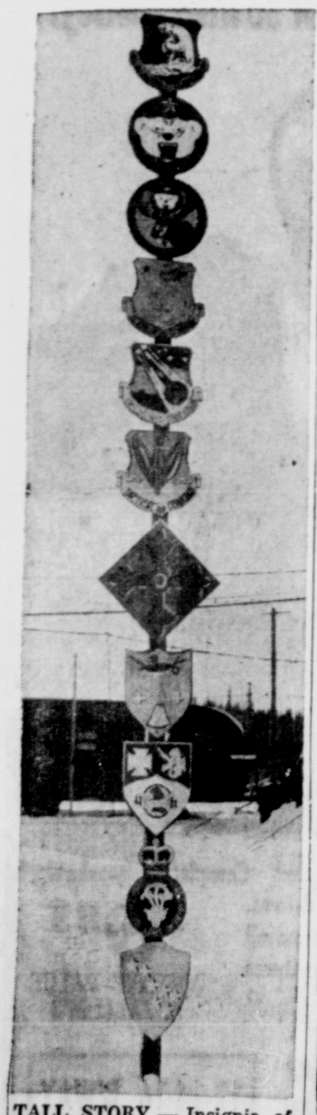

SAYRE, Pa. (AP)—A 16-year-old boy whose body was found Sunday night in a special treatment chamber of a hospital laboratory died for lack of oxygen, doctors said today.

They said William Clayton of Waverly, a part-time worker at the laboratory, "showed evidence of other recent health problems" that rendered him susceptible to the low oxygen content in the chamber. They did not elaborate.

Dogs are kept in the chamber after heart operations. Clayton was employed to feed dogs. Hospital authorities said he was not supposed to enter the chamber but had done so previously.

Another employe found the body. The boy apparently died Sunday afternoon, an autopsy showed.

Buttram Latest Overnight Star In Film Capital

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Pat Buttram says, "I interviewed Walter Huston once, and he told me, 'Getting up to the top is a lot more fun than when you get there.' I'm beginning to see what he meant."

Droll, homey Pat is Hollywood's latest overnight sensation. That pleases him, especially since he has been in show business for 30 years. But it brings problems.

"I used to play any benefit that came along—the PTA, you name it," he remarked. "Now I get so many offers I can't handle them all. And I've got to be careful. I've got to be funny every time, or else."

Pat's complaints are not to be taken too seriously. He obviously is pleased at reaching the big time after decades of playing third or fourth banana.

He is an authentic hillbilly, hailing from rural Alabama (Winston County). Exposure to acting at Birmingham Southern College provided the trauma to make him seek a show business career.

The opportunity came when he attended the Chicago World's Fair in 1933 and was interviewed on the National Barn Dance radio show. Everything he said got laughs, and he was signed as comic for the show, which also spawned the careers of Gene Autry, George Gobel and Rex Allen.

Pat lasted 13 years, then came west as Autry's sidekick in radio, movies and television. When Autry turned to angeling baseball teams and counting his money, Pat was out of a job.

It wasn't until he did a Masquer's Club dinner for Harold Lloyd that his career started rolling. Now the offers are coming hot and heavy. He has signed with MGM for two pictures a year, Ed Sullivan snapped him up for eight appearances. Revue wants him to narrate a television series. Don Quinn wants him to tour in a play based on the life of Will Rogers.

Paintings Taken On Counsel Advice

Mrs. Elizabeth Wolter of Wittenberg Road, Town of Woodstock, reported to state police Monday that her home had been entered and paintings and other articles valued at $70,000 had been taken. Among the 139 oil paintings reported missing were several valuable oils.

Senior Investigator Frank B. Steinkamp and Investigator Roger Gardner of the B.C.I. unit investigated and found the paintings had been taken by Hendrick Wolter "on advice of counsel" during the absence of Mrs. Wolter, who was a patient at a local hospital. The paintings were reported to be the property of the Wolter Foundation, Inc., and had been taken after a window in a bedroom had been forced and entrance to a utility room gained and a lock broken open, state police reported.

Mrs. Wolter reported 139 paintings, a TV, liquor and other articles missing.

Ulster Kiwanis Hears Driver Education Talk

Driver education for teenagers was the topic of Lawrence Plog in a talk for members of Ulster Kiwanis Club Monday night at Aiello's Restaurant.

Plog is the driver education instructor for the Kingston Consolidated School District. He presented facts and figures in his talk. Plog also offered a short movie on the Smith method of learning how to see properly. The program was arranged by Orvil Norman.

Three members of Kingston Kiwanis were in attendance — Warren Russell, Michael Larkin and Collins Troy.

Ulster Kiwanis meets every Monday at 6:45 p. m. at Aiello's.

The naval title admiral apparently originated with the Moslem Arabs. "Amir" is their word for commander, "al" is the article, and "bahr" which means sea was subsequently dropped.

He knows the difference between a real Savings Bank and other banks is this:

Savings Banks give you the most for your money!

Ed Lydtin believes that thrift is for all ages. As a boys-work leader, he is Scoutmaster of Troop 469 of Greenpoint, Brooklyn. As part of teaching his boys self-reliance, Mr. Lydtin makes sound thrift habits an important part of his instruction—sound habits that also are encouraged by Savings Banks, the first and only institutions dedicated primarily to thrift.

You get...

Higher interest-dividends. Savings Banks pay their depositors the highest interest-dividends of any banks in New York State—right from the start.

Unsurpassed safety. No banking institution excels the Savings Banks' record for safety and consistent interest-dividend payments. A Savings Bank account is the investment where your money has no place to go but up.

Unlimited variety. Savings Banks offer more than 40 different types of savings accounts, services, and package plans tailored to fit the individual needs of savers. Savings Banks are specialists in savings.

Greater savings. Surveys show that people save more in a Savings Bank. Unlike other banks that advocate borrowing as a way of life, Savings Banks encourage good thrift habits and a sound savings program. Savings is their major business.

And your money works only for you. Savings Banks are owned by the depositors themselves. So all the profit, after expenses and setting aside a protective reserve, goes directly to you.

Sees Present Post No Barrier

Johnson Seems Pacing Self For '68 Call to Presidency

By JACK BELL
JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson regards his office as "neither a stepping stone nor a barrier" to winning election to the presidency.

Johnson is not saying so, but evidence is accumulating that the No. 2 elective man in the government is pacing himself with prudent steps toward availability for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1968.

This presumes, of course, that he will be retained in second place on the ticket next year when President Kennedy will be running again and there is no existing evidence that he will not be.

Johnson furnished an insight into his political stance, as well as his views on world and domestic problems, in an exclusive interview with The Associated Press.

Other Responses

Among other things, he said in response to questions:

—There is no "reckless desire" on the part of the Kennedy administration to get to the moon "at all costs" and without regard to other vital national interests.

—The Russians have taken on "a grave economic liability" in Cuba, which may give them second thoughts about continuing support of the Fidel Castro regime.

—The fight against communism in South Viet Nam is inching toward a "successful conclusion" that may be several years ahead.

—The "Free World" alliance will close its ranks, despite its natural differences and disagreements, if there is a new external threat.

Points to Past

Johnson was asked whether he thinks the odds are against the election of a vice president to the top job.

"Well," he replied, "ten, or approximately a third of the men who have been vice president have become president. It is difficult for me to answer your question directly without appearing to have a personal motive.

"Trying to be as objective as I possibly can, however, I would say that the vice presidency is neither a stepping stone nor a barrier to the presidency, although we heard a good deal in 1960 about the experience of the vice president, and how it equipped Mr. Nixon for the nomination and subsequently for what the Republicans anticipated would be the presidency."

Since the President is "one of the most overburdened men in the world," Johnson said he stands ready to "perform any mission that he suggests or to comply with any request that he may make."

Johnson rejected a suggestion that he might want to change the constitutional requirement that he preside over the Senate because of the burden of other activities as a member of the Security Council, chairman of the Space Advisory Council, head of the Equal Employment Opportunities Committee and chairman of the Peace Corps Advisory Committee.

The vice president, who came to Congress when Texas was a fully segregated state, said he hasn't changed his fundamental view there should be equal opportunity afforded to the races.

"I have always believed in equality of opportunity, and I think that those beliefs are reflected in my actions over the years," he said.

Newark, N. Y., Listed As Poor Labor Area

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Labor Department reports that Newark, N.Y., has been added to the list of smaller labor-market areas that are suffering substantial unemployment of six per cent or more.

The department said yesterday that there were a total of 174 such areas across the country, compared with 203 a year ago.

The department also announced Tuesday that Oneonta, N.Y., had been removed from the list of labor-market areas eligible for assistance under the federal accelerated public-works program.

To be eligible an area must have had substantial unemployment for at least nine of the previous 12 months or be designated by the Secretary of Commerce as a redevelopment area under the area redevelopment act.

A total of 243 areas in the nation are eligible for the aid.

Chamber Slates Important Session on Parking Crisis

Rebuffed twice by Supervisor Abram F. Molyneaux in its attempts to get town assistance in the building of a parking lot in the heart of the village, Woodstock Township Chamber of Commerce will discuss the parking crisis at its meeting Thursday night at Deanie's at 8 p. m.

Another important item on the agenda will be a discussion on the future of the Woodstock Information Center.

A five-member Chamber of Commerce delegation paid its second visit to the town board at the February meeting. They had previously discussed the question with Supervisor Molyneaux at the December, 1962, meeting.

During the February session, the supervisor indicated he would have some definite word for the Chamber of Commerce "within two weeks." The two-week deadline expired on April 2, without any communication from Supervisor Molyneaux.

In Heart of Town

The area in question is located behind the business premises of Mower's Market and Cousins Appliance, owned by Louis Feinberg and Karl Cousins, respectively. The Chamber sought to have the town board assist in developing the area with an entrance through property owned by Houst and Sons.

In its meeting notice, the Chamber said: "Members of the Chamber have made two approaches to the Town Board on this subject (parking) so far without apparent success. We must decide on future steps now to have the facilities available this summer.

The notice also continued: "The Junior Chamber of Commerce have advised the Chamber of Commerce that they will no longer be able to run the Information Center. We must decide if we are willing to take over this vital service."

President William West has urged a large attendance.

Overlook Methodist Slate Ham Supper

The official board of the Overlook Methodist Church will sponsor a baked ham supper, Saturday, April 20. A bountiful menu, including home made pastries, has been planned.

First setting will be at 5:30 p. m. and will continue until all are served. Tickets may be obtained from Junior and Senior MYF members, or at the door the day of the supper.

Holy Week Services At Christ Lutheran

The events of Holy Week and the Resurrection event will be celebrated at Christ Lutheran Church with the following services:

Holy Thursday — Communion and Meditation by the pastor, 7:30 p. m.; Good Friday—Vespers and a Meditation by the pastor, 7:30 p. m.

Easter Sunday — Special service in the Church School featuring the color filmstrip entitled: "Peter and The Resurrection," 9:45 a. m. Parents are invited to attend this service with their children. The Festival service will be held at 11 a. m., with Pastor Krapf preaching on the topic: "Why Easter Is Everlasting."

Reservoir Charge Lists Schedules

The Last Supper will be remembered as people of the Reservoir Churches meet at West Hurley Thursday at 8:30 p. m. The Upper Room is the title of the Rev. William Hunter's meditation. Special music will be provided under the direction of Mrs. G. A. Nussbaum Jr., with Mrs. Marcus Haines, both members of the West Hurley Church. Mrs. Martin Gulnac of the Ashokan Church will serve as communion steward.

Services on the Day of Resurrection will be held at the regular times of worship: Ashokan, 9:30 a. m.; West Hurley with nursery, 11 a. m.; Glenford, 12:30 p. m. The sermon is Resurrecting Our Faith.

Sunday schools meet West Hurley 9:30 a. m.; Ashokan 10:45 a. m.; Glenford 11:30 a. m.

Sunday evening fellowship at 7 p. m., with Glenford Church as host. Mark's Good News will be the continuing discussion, with the first session summarized.

The confirmation class will continue meeting after school at the parsonage. Good Friday they leave at 8 a. m. to visit Bishop Lloyd Wicke at the Inter-Church Center, New York and see the church work in significant areas.

The Ashokan official board will meet Monday 7:30 p. m.

Choir rehearsals are Ashokan Juniors, 7 p. m. Friday; West Hurley seniors, every Thursday, 7:30 p. m.

Every-member visitation dinners will be held in the churches to introduce the program for the period to December, 1964, in both local-church and in the Conference Development Crusade. All may attend and ask questions. No pledges will be taken at the meeting. Ashokan's will be at 7 p. m. Tuesday, April 16, with dessert; West Hurley, 6 p. m. Wednesday, April 17, covered-dish supper; Glenford, 7 p. m., Thursday, April 18, with dessert.

All Who Touch Him Get Hit With a Curse

Castro Reacts as Caribbean Witchdoctor to Friend, Foe

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—It is almost two years since the United States got mixed up in one of the worst farces in its history. If it had been planned for his benefit, it couldn't have helped Fidel Castro more.

He looked like a soft touch but wasn't. Now, since the Soviets moved in to protect him, he looks untouchable. The United States, which sought to destroy him, now tiptoes around him.

About 1,500 Cuban refugees, with American backing, invaded their homeland April 17, 1961, to get rid of Castro. He smashed them, jailed about 1,200, and finally released them last year for a handsome ransom.

From all of this it might seem he could consider himself safe now. He probably doesn't.

There is a bit of the Caribbean witchdoctor about him. All who touch him get hit with a curse, friend or foe. Both the United States and Russia suffered humiliation from getting tangled with him.

The events flowing from that disastrous act of invasion took strange turns.

This country — but principally President Kennedy, who took responsibility for the invasion—has been rendered self-conscious not only by the invasion failure but the dismal nature of it.

It shocked some people around the world to see the United States take part, even though in the background, in an attack on a neighbor. Some were shocked because it failed, others because it was handled so wretchedly.

Russia suffered an embarrassment from which it probably has not yet recovered when, after sliding missiles into Cuba, it crawled out of a showdown with Kennedy by pulling its missiles out.

Mixed Blessing

But Russia wasn't all loser. It shoved about 22,000 Soviet troops into Cuba with the missiles and perhaps 14,000 are still there. Since any attack on Cuba now would involve them, and Russia, their presence discourages invasion.

In this sense they're a blessing for Castro. He may feel the blessing is mixed. He can't help feeling that if he ever stops toeing the Russian line, the Russians in Cuba will dispose of him.

There is the possibility that Russia had two reasons, not connected with any real threat to the United States, for putting the missiles in Cuba:

1. It was a good excuse to put troops in, too, for while they're a discouragement to any kind of American invasion they are also a control on Castro.

2. Strictly for bargaining: to agree to pull its missiles out of Cuba if this country agreed to do the same with its missiles in Turkey and Italy.

The Kennedy administration denies any such deal, or any deal, was made.

Nevertheless, not long after the Russian missiles were hauled away from Cuba, this government announced it was pulling its missiles out of Italy and Turkey.

Castro's Days Extended

The reason given was that they are no longer needed now that Polaris submarines moving around under the Mediterranean with their missiles are better bases than the stationary ones in Italy and Turkey.

Out of all this one thing is sure: the United States is a lot further from getting Castro out of Cuba than it was before the invasion began. There is no evidence this country now has any plans for getting rid of Castro.

And the American government, which backed the refugees two years ago has become so cautious about getting into trouble with the Russians in Cuba that it has cracked down on refugees in this country to make sure they don't try any anti-Castro capers from American territory.

Ice Piled 15 Feet In St. Mary's River

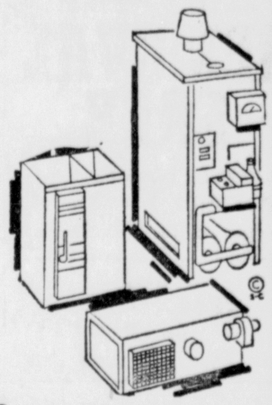

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (AP)—Ice up to 3½ feet thick, and piled to a height of 15 feet in places, has virtually halted icebreaking operations in the upper St. Mary's River.

The icebreaker Alexander Henry backed off Tuesday from an attempt to move into Lake Superior from the east and tried a northerly course. But it made little headway.

Three KHS Students Win Top Places in Five County Contest

The Freeman was able to learn yesterday from Mrs. Althea Odell, supervisor of art at Kingston High School, that three of her students took top prizes in a five county competition last week.

The contest was sponsored by the Mid-Hudson Library Association which embraces a five county area. The object of the contest was to design symbols for use in the Association's publicity and letterheads.

Taking first place was Judy Chatham of Rifton, a freshman at KHS. Miss Chatham won $25 and an art book.

Second place was won by Josephine Degiorgi, a junior, and resident of Kingston. Miss Degiorgi won $10 and an art book.

Third place was won by Gus Wiedemann of Kingston, who received $5 and an art book. Wiedemann is a sophomore.

Two other Kingston students received honorable mentions. They are Barbara Zygmont and Robert Birkhead of Kingston.

Mrs. Odell also told The Freeman that since the first place award went to the Kingston High student, the school will receive an award of $25. This money will be used to purchase art books for the school library.

SOLICITING FOR CHARITY

Q: I recently volunteered to take up a house-to-house collection in my neighborhood for muscular dystrophy, and it was an experience I shall never forget. I had doors slammed in my face with a very curt "Not interested." I never thought people could be so rude. I can understand people not being able to contribute or being wary about letting strangers into their houses, but I do think they can at least be courteous. This is strictly volunteer work and I'm afraid if this rudeness is encountered too often there will be very few volunteers to do this work. Will you please comment on this in your column?

A: To slam the door in anyone's face is inexcusably rude and uncalled for behavior. To say simply and politely, "I'm sorry, but I can't contibute," or "I've already contributed" is all one need do and certainly those who volunteer their time and energy for charity should be accorded this much courtesy.

After Staying With Close Relatives

Q: I spent last weekend at the house of my niece and her husband who live in the country. I know it is customary when spending a night in someone's house to write a bread-and-butter letter to the hostess, but I would like to know if this formality is necessary when staying with close relatives.

A: You should write, or telephone, to let them know that you arrived home safely and say how much you enjoyed your weekend with them.

Daughter as Flower Girl

Q: My sister, who is a widow, is going to be married soon for the second time. She would like her five-year-old daughter to be a flower girl at her wedding. Would this be in good taste?

A: Having her daughter as flower girl will be entirely proper.

The clothes of the bride and groom's parents as well as those of the wedding guests are described in the new Emily Post Institute booklet entitled, "Correct Clothes for a Wedding Reception." To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to the Emily Post Institute, in care of The Freeman.

When the latest styles are seen this Easter Sunday, will you be wearing them? There's still time to get them, you know...at Weisberg's

The word from the fashion leaders this season is femininity. It's the word at Weisberg's too. We've searched for the new, chic styles . . . the ones that will bring out the real, madly feminine YOU! They've been adapted by famous American designers, retaining their couturier styling but at amazing low prices. These clothes have the Weisberg touch . . . the touch that means they'll look and feel like they were made especially for you. Just imagine yourself strolling down the avenue this Sunday in a lovely, high-fashioned Spring coat, a stunning suit, an enticing fur stole or almost anything else your heart desires. You're likely to find it at Weisberg's and at prices "designed" for the budget-minded. So, whether you're looking for last minute accessories or a complete Easter outfit . . . the place for you is Weisberg's. But you'd better hurry . . . after all, Easter Sunday is only a few days away and it does take time to dress for such a special occasion!

Misner-Freer Wedding Is Announced Here; Ceremony Takes Place in Ellenville Church

Miss Valerie Misner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Misner of Kerhonkson, exchanged marriage vows with David Freer Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. David Freer of Ellenville on April 6 at 2 p. m. in the Ellenville Reformed Church. The Rev. George H. Winn, officiated.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a floor length gown of white lace and nylon net with lace bodice, long sleeves and Queen Anne collar. Her fingertip veil of silk illusion was gathered to a crown of seed pearls. She carried a nosegay of miniature white carnations and roses with a touch of ivy and cascade of ribbons.

Mrs. John Johnson of Ellenville, the bride's sister, was matron of honor. She wore a cotillion blue satin gown and carried a nosegay of miniature yellow and gold carnations.

Bridesmaids were Miss Diane Misner of Kerhonkson, the bride's sister, and Miss Suzanne Bradford, the bridegroom's niece, an Ellenville resident. Their gowns were identical to that worn by the honor attendant except in a lighter shade of blue. They also carried yellow and gold carnations.

Donald DuBois of Kerhonkson was best man. Ushers were Douglas Sarr of Tillson, bridegroom's brother-in-law; Donald Bradford of Ellenville, brother-in-law of the bridegroom; Robert Misner of Kingston, bride's brother, and John Johnson of Ellenville, bride's brother-in-law.

The bride is a graduate of Kerhonkson High School and Harpur College. She is a teacher in the Ellenville Central School System. Her husband was graduated from Ellenville High School and is a member of the U. S. Army Reserve. He is employed at the Ellenville Savings Bank.

Mr. and Mrs. Freer Jr., will be at home at 60 Warren Street, Ellenville.

Berta Frey Slated To Lecture Here for YWCA Women's Club

Miss Berta Frey, noted writer, lecturer and teacher of weaving, will present a program for the Women's Club on Thursday afternoon. Her topic will be "American Hand Weaving Today."

This will be an open meeting and members are invited to bring guests. Business meeting starts at 2:15 p. m.

Miss Frey is a native of Texas and attended the University of Texas, Kansas State Teachers College and New York University. She first began work as an occupational therapist in U. S. Army Hospitals and was attracted to weaving as a profession at that time. She left Walter Reed Hospital to establish a studio in Washington, D. C. specializing in fabrics for wearing apparel.

In New York City, wider fields were open to her and she accepted the challenge and became very successful doing imaginative and creative weaving for some of the leading interior decorators.

Miss Frey has stated she more or less retired to Woodstock, teaching and doing a limited amount of custom weaving." She maintains a private studio in her home and teaches at the Woodstock Guild of Craftsmen.

Miss Frey has received numerous awards for her work in national and regional competitions. She is represented in permanent collections of several museums including Cooper Union Museum.

Miss Frey is author of several books among them "Seven Projects in Rosepath," and "Designing and Drafting for Handweavers." She is a regular contributor to "Handweaving and Craftsman."

At present, Miss Frey is probably better known as a teacher and lecturer than a producer having taught and lectured in 37 out of 50 states.

She has made a permanent contribution to New York Craftsmen in particular as organizer and first president of the New York Guild of Handweavers. She is also past president of the New York Craftsmen.

Annual Meeting Set April 23; Leaders Attend Conference

The annual dinner meeting of the Ulster County Council of Girl Scouts will be held April 23 at the New Paltz Methodist Church Hall starting 6:30 p. m.

All adult Girl Scout members, husbands, wives and friends of Girl Scouting may attend. Reservations must be made with Mrs. Douglas Bartow of New Paltz by April 16.

At the business meeting there will be election of officers, a progress report on the program change and showing of the film, This Is Girl Scouting.

Representatives of the Ulster County Council of Girl Scouts attended the 35th annual spring conference arranged by the Westchester County Cooperative Training Committee at Sarah Lawrence College, Bronxville. Among those present from Kingston were Mrs. David Ennis, council president Mrs. David Abramsky, executive field adviser and Kenneth Schupp, troop leader.

The theme One Program with Four Age Levels was presented by Mrs. Edward Brancati. The group attended eight workshops demonstrating progression in fundamental Girl Scout Philosophy through activities in the arts, the home, and out of doors.

Also attending were Mrs. Edward Green, Stone Ridge, program coordinator and program committee members. Mrs. Eric Farquharson, Mrs. Charles Schumacher of Saugerties; Mrs. James Graziosi, Marlboro, troop organizer; Mrs. George Schoonmaker, Highland, troop leader; Mrs. Calvin Wygant, Marlboro, training work group chairman.

MARRIED 68 YEARS—Kingston couple, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Ostrander of 54 Hurley Avenue, quietly observed their 68th wedding anniversary last week. Lifelong residents of Ulster County, they have two children: Mrs. Joseph Hughes, who also resides at 54 Hurley Avenue; and Norwood Ostrander of 34 Hillcrest Avenue. The Ostranders have four grandchildren and five great grandchildren. Retired now for many years, Mr. Ostrander was formerly employed by Mohican Market on John Street. He is 90 years of age and his wife is 88. In the picture, the elder citizens cut their anniversary cake which was presented to them by their family on April 3. (Freeman photo)

4-H Club News

On Saturday, April 6, nine Ulster County 4-H Club girls traveled to the Sullivan County 4-H Club Offices to give their demonstrations at the three-county (Orange, Sullivan, Ulster) District Demonstration Day. Thirty-three 4-H Club girls from the three counties were on hand to give their presentations at the event. Each of the girls participating were selected from the County Demonstration Days, as excellent award winners, and received the honor of presenting their demonstrations at the District for State Exposition consideration. Judges at the event were: Mrs. Gerald DuBois, New Paltz, Ulster County; Miss Ruth Clements, N.Y.S. Gas & Electric Co., Sullivan County, and Miss Ann Purcell, Orange County Assistant 4-H Club Agent, Middletown, N. Y.

Miss Mary Lou Rice, Assistant County 4-H Club Agent, announces . . . the five Ulster County Demonstrators selected to give their presentations at the State Exposition in Syracuse in August were: In Foods: Miss Martha Nickerson, Sawkill, a Bread Demonstration — "Cheese Braid Specialty"; Miss Lynne Charlton, Hurley, a Dairy Demonstration, "Lenten Surprise" and Miss Linda McCord, Wallkill, a Poultry Demonstration, "Angel Food Cake."

In the area of Clothing and Textiles, Miss Genevieve Switz, Lomontville, was selected as the State Clothing Demonstrator from the District. Her presentation was "Bound Buttonholes", and in Home Improvement, Miss Patricia Schoonmaker, High Falls, who demonstrated, "Seating A Chair With Hong Kong Grass", was selected to be recommended as the District Home Improvement Working Booth at State Exposition.

Each of the five demonstrators selected will journey to Syracuse in August to give their presentations at the State Exposition. In the area of Foods, delegates are selected to go on to the National level, at National 4-H Congress in the Fall.

Business Dept. at KHS Announces Top Contest Winners

On Friday, April 5, the Business Department of Kingston High School, under the direction of Loryne Connick, held its annual typing contest with area schools.

Taking first place in the advanced award section was a Kingston High School student Theresa Lussier. Ellen Tozzi and Jean Becker of Wallkill took second and third place respectively.

A team award was won by Jean Becker and Ellen Tozzi of the Wallkill Central School.

ADVANCED AWARD WINNER—Theresa Lussier, student at Kingston High School won first place in the Advanced Award Section of an annual typing contest held here last week. Congratulating her is Loryne Connick of the KHS Business Department. Marlboro, Saugerties and Wallkill students also won awards. Nine area schools were represented and approximately 70 students participated in the contest.

In addition, the contest demonstrated to the students of the participating schools the necessary skills that are needed to obtain employment and the competition that is present in securing these positions.

Some 70 students representing nine area schools registered at 1 p. m. The preliminary contest for first-year typists commenced at 1:45 and the pre-contest warmup for the advanced students at 2:15. Finalists of the first-year group competed at 2:30 and the advanced typists at 2:45.

Members of the contest committee were Mrs. Marilyn Bouton, Miss Betty Ferris, Miss Elizabeth Foley, and Kenneth Kime, chairman.

Each of the participating schools had the opportunity to send three students per level, plus one alternate for each group. The following schools participated: Beacon High School, Goshen High School, Hudson High School, Valley Central, Wallkill Central, Marlboro Central, Onteora Central, Saugerties Central, and Kingston High School.

The first-year contest level is limited to those students who have up to but not more than one full year of typing. Those on the advanced level have more than one full year of typing.

The students who represented Kingston High School on the first-year level were Rosella Brandon, Christine Lodge, Linda Stanaway and Karen Zygmont, alternate. Those on the advanced level were Joyce Alte, alternate, Agnes Christiana, Theresa Lussier, and Barbara Rosenthal.

Each of the two levels had three-place prizes. The winner of first place in each of the groups received a gold medal plus a $25 United States Government Savings Bond. The second place winners received sterling silver medals, and the third place contestants received bronze medals. A team trophy was also awarded to the two-member team that acquired the highest average. This trophy will be inscribed with the name of the winning school and remains in its possession until the next annual contest. Any school winning the trophy three years in succession may retain it permanently. In addition, each of the members of the team received individual inscribed trophies.

Scores were registered in terms of net-words-per minute. Students typed for five minutes in a preliminary match. Those who had five or less errors advanced to the final for each level. The student who scored the highest number of words per minute and had five or less errors was declared the winner.

The wards were presented by Dan Allen, Principal of Kingston High School, in the school library at 3:00.

Old Script in National Loop; Dodgers, Giants Win, Mets Bow

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

You can be pardoned for that feeling that this is where you came in.

The National League baseball pennant chase got under way in earnest Tuesday, and these were some of the results on the first full day of action:

Jack Sanford, 24 wins, got the victory for the San Francisco Giants, as Willie [illegible]vs (49 last season), Orlando Cepeda (35), Felipe Alou (25) and Willie McCovey (20) homered.

The scores were Los Angeles 5, Chicago Cubs 1; San Francisco 9, Houston 2; Philadelphia 2, Cincinnati 1, and the St. Louis Cardinals 7, New York Mets 0.

The Pittsburgh Pirates, who dropped the annual day-ahead opener Monday at Cincinnati to the Reds evened their record at 1-1 with a 3-2 victory over the Milwaukee Braves.

Wills Hurts Ankle

The Dodger victory may have been costly. Shortstop Maury Wills, the league's Most Valuable Player last year, left after the sixth inning with a jammed left ankle and was doubtful for today's game with the Cubs.

Wills, who stole 104 bases last season, revealed before the game that he had become worried about his valuable legs, and had gone to a hypnotist during the winter to try to get the worries off his mind. Wills apparently hurt the ankle in the third inning when he was thrown out at the plate on a double play.

Drysdale gave up 11 hits but was helped by three double plays, as he won his sixth straight over the Cubs. The Dodgers broke a 1-1 tie in the sixth when Willie Davis tripled and scored on a balk by pitcher Larry Jackson, obtained in a winter trade from the Cards. Rookie Ken McMullen iced the game with a two-run double in the ninth.

The Giants jumped off to a 6-0 lead at Houston. Cepeda's homer in the second opened the scoring and Sanford tripled home two runs in the same frame. Sanford weakened in the 90-degree heat and left in the sixth after giving up three straight singles. Jack Fisher, picked up in a trade with the Orioles, pitched hitless relief.

Spoil Shutout

Mahaffey, the 24-year-old hard throwing right-hander, had a two-hit shutout going into the ninth. Frank Robinson opened that inning for the Reds with a single and moved to second on a ground out. Robinson scored when catcher John Edwards smashed a line double. Mahaffey then struck out Gene Freese and rookie Tom Harper to end the game, but only after Freese had missed a home run by a few feet foul.

Joey Jay, 21-14 last season, also pitched well, giving up only five hits in the seven innings he worked. Three singles, with Don Demeter's coming with two out, scoring the first Phillie run in the fourth. In the sixth, John Callison doubled and scored when Cincinnati first baseman Gordie Coleman let a double play relay throw get through him for an error.

The Mets, the worst tenth-place team in history last year, opened with an almost entirely new cast, but the same old act. They fumbled and foozled the ball in the field, and were woeful at bat, as Ernie Broglio set them down with two hits. Larry Burright got both, a single in the first inning and a double in the ninth. At one stage, Broglio retired 20 Mets in a row.

A newcomer, third baseman Bob Bailey, whose bonus has been estimated in the $175,000 area, sparked for the Pirates. He hit a homer and a crucial single. The Pirates won in the ninth off reliever Bob Hendley, when Bill Virdon singled with two out, and Bailey beat out a slow roller for a hit. Then pinch hitter Ted Savage struck the winning blow, a single. Elroy Face, who pitched out of a bases-loaded, none-out jam in the ninth, got the win in relief.

Herdegen Cutoff Figure—27 Players

Because of a typographical error in Monday's issue, it was reported that the cutoff figure in the qualifying round for the Herdegen Memorial golf tournament was "7".

Upstate Club Advances With 113-87 Victory

Leading all the way, the powerful Albany Athletic Club quintet moved into the finals of the 10th annual Kingston Basketball tournament with a 113-87 triumph over the Albany IRA last night at the Municipal Auditorium.

Joining the tournament favorites in the championship tussle will be the Pine Plains Bombardiers. George Stuetzle's team stopped a late rally by Ray's Tackle Shop and stopped the defending champions, 80-73.

Bill Telasky, the ex-George Washington high scorer, was the ringleader for the A. C., but he had plenty of help. The upstate powerhouse had four of its players in double figures as it romped to the verdict.

Telasky scored 32 points in three quarters to pace the decision. Tom Hannon, the ex-St. Bonaventure ace, finished with 23 markers. Ricky Jannott had 19 and big Wayne Evans accounted for 14.

39 for Kirvin

Billy Kirvin put on a brilliant marksmanship display for the losers with 39 points. He potted 14 field goals and had 11 foul shots. However, it was one man against a good, solid team and that was the difference.

The first game was a thriller. The Bombardiers, loaded with former Siena College stars, almost ran Ray's off the court in the first half, leading by a 41-28 margin at the interim. Then the locals bounced back and even went ahead, 73-72, late in the game. But a run of eight straight points near the end gave the Bombardiers their well earned triumph.

Tim Mannix led the winners with 19 points. Jim Healy (18), Paul Thorpe (17) and Jim Ahern (16) were also in double figures.

Ahern was also tremendous on defense, limiting Joe Uhl to 10 points. Ronnie Scheffel scored 22 for Ray's while Marty Kaye added 15 and Chick Boice 14.

In Thursday's games, the Tackle Shop will play the IRA for third place at 7:30 and the championship tussle will begin at 8:45.

Celts Favored To Beat Cincy

BOSTON (AP) — The world champion Boston Celtics—aging, tired and 10-point favorites—battle it out with the Cincinnati Royals tonight for the Eastern Division playoff crown in the National Basketball Association.

The Celtics must win the final game in the best-of-seven series to earn a chance for their fifth straight NBA crown. The Royals must take it to continue their surprising march toward their first title since the franchise moved to the Ohio city from Rochester, N.Y.

Both teams are at full strength for the Boston Garden clash and the game has been a sellout for several days. The oddsmakers rate Boston 10-11 points better than the Royals, who won the sixth game 109-99 Sunday night in Cincinnati to square the series at 3-3.

Groat Impresses As St. Louis SS

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Critics of Dick Groat who claim the St. Louis Cardinal shortstop has slowed down can never make a case for themselves by his Polo Grounds performances.

The balding shortstop, who seems to rise to his greatest heights at the fabled old park, put on his usual brilliant show Tuesday as the Cardinals ruined the Mets' home opener with a 7-0 victory behind the two-hit pitching of Ernie Broglio.

Groat, traded by Pittsburgh to St. Louis last winter because "he has lost a step or two," figured prominently in two scoring rallies against Roger Craig. Besides cracking three hits and scoring twice, the ex-Duke athlete played faultlessly in the field.

"It will be a sad day for me when they tear down the Polo Grounds," Groat grinned.

"I played my first professional game here back in 1952. I got my first big league hit and my first home run here. I also played in the last game here before the Giants moved to San Francisco.

1948 Victory Over Mighty Mont Pleasant May Have Been Kias' Supreme Moment

By CHARLES J. TIANO
(Freeman Sports Editor)

Ask G. Warren Kias to name the greatest basketball player he developed in his distinguished 28-year coaching career at Kingston High and the about-to-retire athletic director, a cautious and sentimental man by nature, would be understandably reluctant.

But ask him to recall his supreme moment of triumph on the basketball court and the answer should be obvious.

And somehow to this observer the answers to both questions might have been inextricably fused together on the glorious night of March 20, 1948. But again, the Man from Illinois might be reluctant to admit any correlation between the heroic events of that night.

The setting was Convention Hall in Saratoga and of the 3,000 persons assembled there for the Eastern New York State high school finals, about 2,000 confidently expected to see a mighty Mont Pleasant quintet drub the challengers from the farm country below Albany.

Makofski's Nightmare

It simply didn't happen that way. And to his dying day, the Raiders' fabled athletic director—Sig Makofski—will never be convinced that it really happened as it did.

An undefeated Kingston team, riding the wings of a 37-game winning streak, toppled mighty Mont Pleasant, 53-49, in an overtime thriller that has to stand as the most glorious basketball victory in Maroon history. We doubt that G. W. will dissent from that opinion.

And from the turmoil and turbulence of that historic victory emerged one of the greatest of Maroon basketball heroes—Ronnie Scheffel. To this observer, Ronnie Scheffel was the finest KHS player he saw in 28 years of live coverage of Maroon athletics. Coach Kias, of course, loyal to the plethora of great stars who helped sustain his image as "Mr. Basketball of the DUSO League," has never—not even in private conversation—named his choice as the all-time No. 1 of his regime.

During that era, Mont Pleasant was the "untouchable" of eastern New York basketball circles. But somehow the inspired Kingston team managed to grind out a 26-19 lead in the first half. (Yes, kiddies, that's how they played it those days).

It Wasn't a Fluke

"It's a fluke and it can't last." the Mont Pleasant rooters scoffed. The other 1,000 wished and prayed for the miracle.

The history book recalls that the teams were tied seven times during the game. With 10 seconds remaining, Kingston trailed 47-45. Big Ed Weaver, later to star at West Point, shook himself loose from a mass of defenders to hit with a twisting layup. A MP player fired a long down court pass but it sailed out of bounds, and in the resultant confusion under the Mont Pleasant basket, Bob Ghear, a Kingston guard, was knocked cold as a frozen herring. The game ended 47-47 and Convention Hall rocked with pandemonium. Ghear was out a couple of minutes but recovered nicely and was ready for the overtime session.

Mont Pleasant's Mannikas hit first with an outside shot. With 1:15 left, Ronnie Scheffel, a Maroon sub, stole the ball, passed off to Joe Albany, and darted toward the Kingston basket. Albany's bullet pass and Ronnie Scheffel drilled the layup and went crashing out of bounds.

The Greatest Team

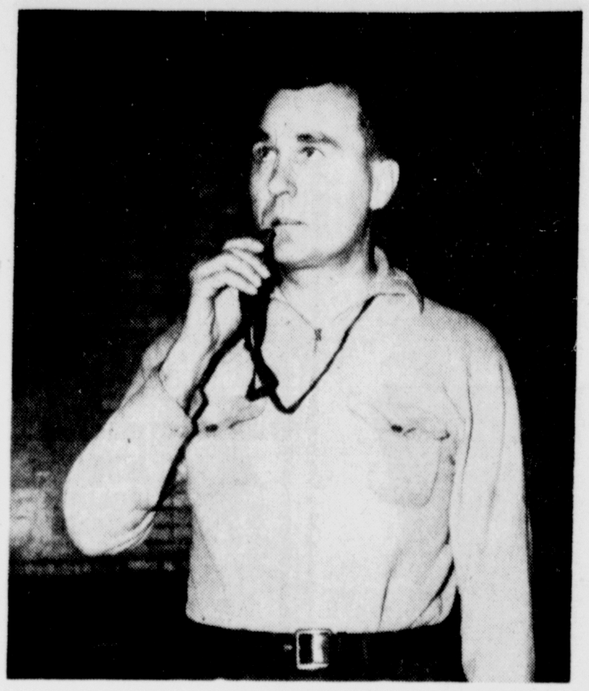

With a minute remaining, the Maroons deployed into a "freeze" Seconds before the final buzzer, Scheffel shook loose for another driving layup that was purely anti-climatic.

That 1947-48 aggregation may have been Coach Kias' finest. But again this may be pure speculation because his long career encompassed many changes in basketball—elimination of the center jump, the fast break, one-handed shooting — and a fair comparison is impossible.

It was a team built around a superb all-around athlete — Big Ed Weaver and a supporting cast of Mike Rienzo, Bob Ghear, Joe Albany and Ken Lowe.

Ronnie Scheffel was the sub who scored the winning basket in Kingston High's most momentous basketball victory. And before he departed the halls of KHS, he might possibly have been the greatest who ever wore the Maroon uniform. The jury is still out on both points.

Series Recalls Kias Highlights

The first of a series of articles recalling some of the highlights and great performers and teams during the 36-year coaching regime of G. Warren Kias starts today in The Freeman.

The series will be written by Sports Editor Charles J. Tiano and Ed Palladino of the sports staff.

Sawyer Track Prospects Slim

Track prospects for Saugerties are slim this year with only a little more than a handful of veterans returning. Coach Bud Smith, who has had the Sawyers near the top of the DCSL in recent seasons, is starting pratically, from scratch as he preps the Sawyers for their opener tomorrow against Beacon.

Brad Welton, an 880 performer and Frank Fusick, the strong boy who throws the discus and also runs in the 220 and in the relay, are co-captains. Rich Giannotti, the 100, 220 and relay ace is also back.

Other veterans are Terry Reissler, hurdles and pole vault; Fred Seither, hop, step and jump and 440; Steve Perks and Ted Schultz, mile; Chuck Schirmer, shot and discus and Chuck Nordquist, mile and pole vault.

Tebbetts Chirps as Tribe Wins; Pepitone Hits Two in Debut

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Cleveland Indians, with an assist from the Canadian Air Force and plane 5BX, are away winging, winning their opener with a four-homer salvo as the American League baseball season began to run full throttle.

Using "ballplayers nobody ever heard of," the Indians belted 20-game winner Camilo Pascual soldidly Tuesday for a 5-4 opening day victory over Minnesota that had new Manager Birdie Tebbetts chirping.

Tebbetts borrowed the 11-minute calisthenic program labeled plan 5BX by the Canadian Air Force, and instituted it in spring training to get the Indians prepared for a quick getaway. There's no doubt his nobodies got away quick.

The nobodies included Jim Grant, who pitched a seven-hitter, and homer hitters Woodie Held, John Romano, rookie Max Alvis and newly acquired Fred Whitfield.

Said Tebbetts in somewhat of a challenge: "Cleveland has some ballplayers, but nobody ever heard of them. They will."

Joe Pepitone made himself heard for the New York Yankees, cracking two homers and a double in support of Ralph Terry's six-hit pitching as the world champions got started with an 8-2 triumph at Kansas City.

In other American League openers, the Chicago White Sox edged Detroit 7-5 behind newly acquired Pete Ward and Hoyt Wilhelm and the Los Angeles Angels defeated Boston 4-1 behind Ken McBride's four-hitter. Baltimore and Washington, who opened Monday, were not scheduled.

Solo Homers

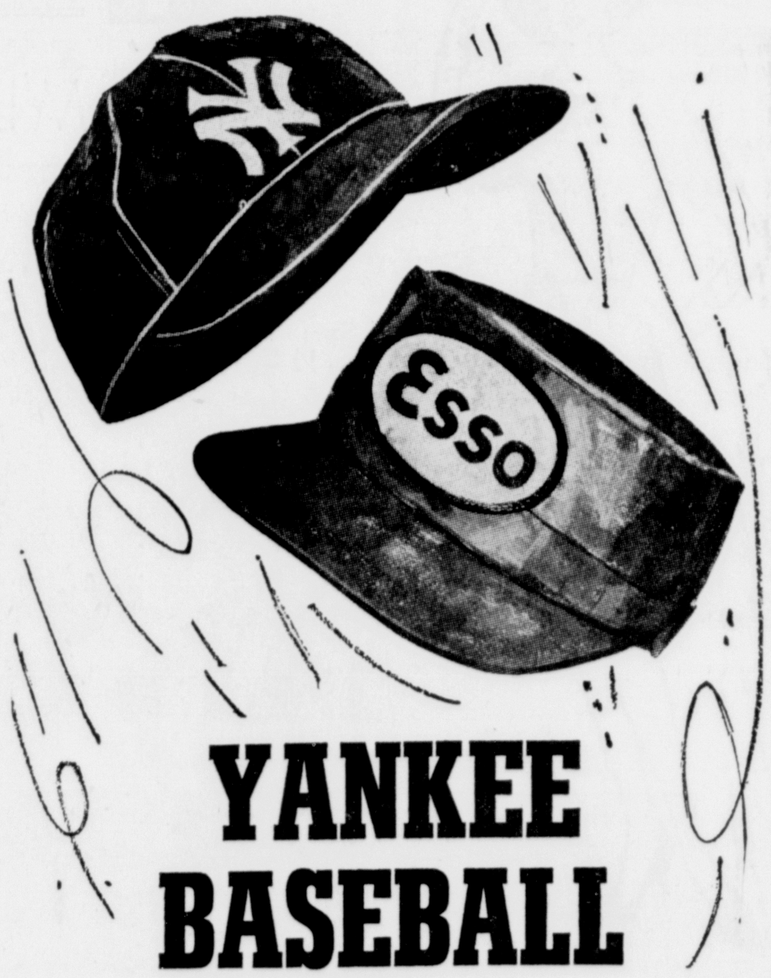

The Indians' first three runs came on solo homers by Romano in the second inning and Whitfield and Alvis in the fourth. Then, in the seventh with the score tied 3-3, Alvis led off with a double and Held crashed a 415-foot homer that put the game out of the Twins' reach. Grant was touched for solo homers by Lenny Green and Vic Power.

Pepitone's slugging paved the way for Terry, who received 13-hit support against a Kansas City team that seemed to have little going for it besides beautiful, tradition-breaking green and gold uniforms. Elston Howard also homered for the Yankees, tagging loser Dieo Segui with one on in the fourth. Rookie Bill Bryan and newcomer Chuck Essegian connected for the A's.

Ward lined a three-run homer in the seventh inning off loser Jim Bunning, wiping out a 5-4 Detroit lead and Wilhelm came on and retired the last nine men in a row to protect Frank Baumann's victory. Both Ward and Wilhelm were acquired by the White Sox in an off-season trade with Baltimore. Gus Triandos, also acquired from the Orioles, homered for the Tigers.

The Angels wrapped it up against Red Sox starter Bill Monbouquette with a four-run fifth inning uprising capped by Lee Thomas' three-run homer. The first run came across when Jim Fregosi reached second on a two-base throwing error by Ed Bressoud and eventually scored on Billy Moran's single. Carl Yastrzemski's homer in the seventh broke up McBride's shutout bid.

First Day Attendance In Majors—306,565

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Attendance for major league baseball's two-day schedule of 11 openers reached 306,565, with Monday's presidential Opener at Washington between Baltimore and the Senators drawing the top crowd of 43,022.

The top attendance mark on Tuesday's program was the 37,781 turnout at Detroit to watch the Tigers-Chicago White Sox inaugural. The top National League mark was 29,615 for the Milwaukee at Pittsburgh curtain-raiser.

Tuesday's nine-game program attracted 234,647 through the turnstiles with 121,935 viewing National League action and 112,712 watching the American Leaguers.

Young Man Has to Stay

Kranepool, Bonus Phenom, $80,000 Must With The Mets

BY HARRY GRAYSON
Sports Editor
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK, (NEA)—For a spell, Prof. Casey Stengel feared that the Mets would have to start the National League season with an all right-hand batting outfield.

"And with only one authentic power hitter among them—Frank Thomas," said Professor Stengel, holding court in the dugout at the Polo Grounds before the New York club's opening with the St. Louis Cardinals. "Now we have two left-hand hitters, (Duke) Snider and (Ed) Kranepool, and the power we needed so badly."

Stengel talked about Kranepool like he once did about Mickey Mantle, but you have to wonder if the wish isn't father of the the thought.

Broke Hank's Mark

The youngster, who broke Hank Greenberg's home run record at James' Monroe High School in the Bronx with 18 in 60 games through three years is an $80,000 must, you see. With every major club after him that is what he got for his signature and if he were sent out again he would be eligible for the draft.

"Kranepool stands at the plate like a guy who has been around for years," said Stengel. "He has a beautiful swing and unlike a lot of big swingers rarely goes after a bad pitch. He struck out only three times during our entire training."

Ed Kranepool

The fact that the Mets have to keep him all season, or run the risk of losing him and the $80,000 that would go with him, bolsters the confidence of Kranepool, an intelligent lad.

"I'll at least get a good look and I believe I can hit National League pitching," he said.

Kranepool necessarily took a cram course en route to Harlem. Out of high school in June, he briefly sampled Triple A, A and D League pitching.

"They started me at the top in the minors and worked me down," smiled Big Ed, "but the reason I was shipped from Syracuse to Knoxville was that the Sally League club's first baseman was hurt. By the time I got there, the first baseman was OK and that is why I went to the outfield.

There Is Precedent

"The Mets' front office was annoyed at the way I was being handled, which is why I wound up the season with Auburn of the New York-Pennsylvania League."

Kranepool batted .351 and drove in 18 home runs in 20 games with Auburn. He batted .317 in 40 games in the Florida Instructional League the past winter, .344 during the training season with his three home runs in one game.

While he would prefer first base, he looks all right in the outfield. He has fair speed.

"Mel Ott broke in with the Giants at 17," concluded Casey Stengel, "Phil Cavarretta started the season with the Cubs that went into the World Series when he was 18. So, why can't this big, eager kid with all the moves make it?"

Why not indeed — especially with the Mets?

Pepitone Does Well in Opener

By JIM VANVALKENBURG
Associated Press Sports Writer

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Joe Pepitone belted two home runs in his debut as Moose Skowron's replacement at first base for the New York Yankees, then asserted: "This is a big year for me—I don't want to let this chance get away."

The Yanks traded Skowron, an established right-hander Slugger, to the Los Angeles Dodgers for pitcher Stan Williams, a 14-game winner. This left the first base job squarely up to Pepitone, an outfielder for most all his brief career.

"He had a good spring, leading the club in home runs and runs batted in," said Yankee Manager Ralph Houk after Tuesday's opening 8-2 victory over Kansas City.

"He has the ability to match's Skowron's record."

This is a measure of the club's confidence in Pepitone. Skowron averaged more than 25 homers and 86 runs batted in the past three seasons.

Pepitone, 22, is a Brooklyn-born left-handed swinger with powerful wrists and the grace of a natural athlete. He got into 63 games for the Yankees as a rookie last season, only 16 of them at first base and hit .239, with seven homers.

"Mickey (Mantle) kids me by saying I'm the only change in our lineup from last year, so if we don't win the pennant, it'll be my fault," Pepitone said.

Before you start intensive putting practice, make sure you have found the style that is exactly suited to you and that it doesn't embody or tend to lead to any violation of the inviolable fundamentals.

If you practice wrong, you'll play wrong. Doing the same wrong thing again and again will compound the error.

Make sure the feet are comfortably planted to give perfect balance. Make sure the blade of the putter is square to the line of direction. Start close to the cup and work back.

Keep the head fixed in relation to the ball. It can turn, but must not change its position. Whether you use a tap or stroke the ball, bring the club face back low and in a straight line and go through the same way.

Toronto Defeats Detroit Wings, 4-2

TORONTO (AP) — At a practice Monday Punch Imlach made Bob Nevin spend 15 minutes shooting pucks after the other Toronto Maple Leafs had gone to the dressing room.

This, the Toronto-manager-coach said was "just to show I was dissatisfied."

Nevin apparently got the hint. Dick Duff also must have got the word.

The two wingers scored two goals each Tuesday night as the Leafs defeated the Detroit Red Wings 4-2 in the first game of the best-of-seven Stanley Cup hockey final playoff.

For Duff, it was a continuation of the sharp upswing in play that he was shown in the playoffs. For Nevin, it ended his scoring famine in the playoffs.

And though the Red Wings did not have great cause for celebration, left winger Larry Jeffrey had good reason for personal satisfaction — he scored both Detroit goals.

Both clubs scheduled practices today in preparation for the second game here Thursday night. The third and fourth games are in Detroit Sunday and Tuesday.

Lourdes Coach

Donohue Resigns For Job at Niagara

Ed Donohue, who has guided the athletic fortunes at Our Lady of Lourdes High School since 1959, the year the school was opened, has been appointed to the faculty of Niagara University as assistant professor of Physical Education, effective Sept. of this year. He will also coach the varsity baseball and freshman basketball teams.

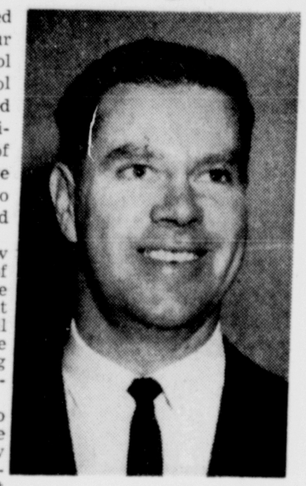

Very Rev. Monsignor Matthew J. Cox, supervising principal of Our Lady of Lourdes, made known Donohue's appointment today. The Lourdes coach will remain at the school until the end of the year. He is coaching the baseball team at the present time.

"We are very, very sorry to lose Mr. Donohue. He has done an outstanding job at Our Lady of Lourdes and will not be replaced easily. Despite the fact we had no home basketball court until this year, he has always been able to produce a good team. We at Lourdes will miss him but we wish him every success and happiness in his new appointment," the Monsignor stated.

Syracuse Graduate

Donohue attended Niagara University in 1949-50, before he enlisted in the Air Force. After his discharge in 1953, he completed his schooling at Syracuse University, graduating with a Masters degree in physical education. He coached at Belfast High School for two years, leading the soccer and baseball teams to titles and the basketball quintet to the semi-finals of the sectionals.

He came to Lourdes in 1959, coached the school in three jayvee sports and has had the varsity basketball and baseball teams. Lourdes started jayvee football last season and Donohue was the coach. The school is scheduled to play its first varsity grid season this year.

ED DONOHUE

He is recognized as one of the best young coaches in the area. He is a good organizer and has always been a popular coach, both with the athletes and the parents.

"I am very sorry to leave the area. The people have been good to me. My appreciation goes to Monsignor Cox for giving me an opportunity to coach at Lourdes and to the parents, students and in particular, the athletes, who have shown so much desire, spirit and good attitude," Donohue said.

A native of Poughkeepsie, Donohue attended Poughkeepsie High School and was a four-letter athlete. He and his wife and three children plan to move upstate after the summer.

St. Louis Tops Lakers, 121-113

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The Los Angeles Lakers will try again Thursday night to wrap up the Western Division playoff title which eluded them Tuesday against the St. Louis Hawks.

However, this time Elgin Baylor, Jerry West and Co. will have the home court advantage that seems to have made the difference thus far in the National Basketball Association best-of-seven series. The Lakers and Hawks have won three each at home.

The charm worked again Tuesday night as the Hawks spurted early and late for a 121-113 triumph.

The Lakers nearly overcame a 16-point deficit in the final moments to pull within three before Pettit and substitutes John Barnhill and Bill Bridges teamed up in a closing spree that clinched the contest. Barnhill hit 6 points and Bridges 7, and another sub, Mike Farmer, added 5.

Rocky to Pound Out Theme on Budget-Balancing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller gives Washington a first-hand version today of the budget-balancing doctrine he is preaching in his unannounced pursuit of the 1964 GOP presidential nomination.

The New York governor was represented as believing he has hit on a topic popular with party conservatives. He was expected to pound it hard at a series of speeches and a news conference beginning with a congressional breakfast.

The conservatives, who tend to look askance at what they regard as his liberal record, also have been applauding his attacks on President Kennedy's handling of foreign policy matters.

Rockefeller has been talking about "a firm and positive foreign policy." He has plugged for private enterprise and states rights about as diligently as Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., a potential rival for the 1964 nomination.

Rockefeller wants to cut taxes more quickly and deeper than Kennedy's proposed net reduction of $10 billion in three years. And he favors dropping accompanying revenue law revisions. He contends incentive tax cuts would permit federal budget balancing in 1965 if expenditures are held to present levels.

In all of this, the New York governor sounds like the majority of Republicans in Congress.

Rockefeller's problem is to avoid obscuring the liberal positions he has taken to entice Republicans of that persuasion into his camp and to appeal to the independents whose support he would need to win the presidency.

Rhinebeck Asks Referendum on Sanitary Sewer

Residents of Rhinebeck have petitioned the Village Board to set a date for a referendum on a proposal authorizing construction of a sanitary sewer system for the entire village at a cost of $513,000.

Mayor Donald J. Closs contended that despite the outcome of a vote on the proposal, the Board plans to submit a village-wide sewer plan, which would call for an automatic referendum.

The mayor said that he believes without a doubt that if the referendum on the proposed area does not pass, residents of the village will have a vote on a village system.

The Village Board resolution provides for the issuance of $415,000 in serial bonds and $21,902 in capital notes.

Strike May Idle

Upstate tfaeaetreh rlier deadline expired.
Upstate after the earlier deadline expired.

A spokesman for the State Public Works Department estimated the value of the 25 projects at $64 million. He said a widespread strike would affect hundreds of projects.

An employer spokesman said the teamsters had been offered a 33-cent-an-hour wage package. It called for a raise of 16 cents an hour during the first year of a two-year contract and 17 cents in the second.

Says Authority Lacking

Earlier, the contractors had said the teamsters had been offered an increase of 15 cents an hour but were seeking 18 cents.

According to DePerno, management negotiators said they "didn't have the authority (to complete a wage agreement) even if we accepted—which we wouldn't."

He said the management report of the teamsters' wage proposals was not true. But he declined to say what the union sought.

Management said the members of the Hod Carriers and Common Laborers Union had been offered a raise of 17 cents an hour but were asking for a boost of 27 cents.

Worker Recuperates, Denies Scaffold Fall

Injured early last month while working on a project at Maple Hill, Bruno De Luca, 40, a laborer, of Lattintown Road, Marlboro, is recuperating at his home. He was a patient at Benedictine Hospital, where he underwent treatment for head and right shoulder injuries.

De Luca said today that he was picking up material stripped from a ceiling by other workmen at the new American Telephone and Telegraph Co., building on Route 32 at Maple Hill, when a 15-foot piece of 4 by 6 timber fell and hit him.

De Luca said he was rendered unconscious by the blow. The laborer denied previous reports that he fell from scaffolding. He said he was working under the scaffold at the time he was injured.

NYC Must Keep

Hudson office by Rhinecliff area patrons and assign a traveling representative to serve the needs of local freight patrons when necessary.

The roadroad's tracks at Rhinecliff are in a deep cut, with access provided between the station and the track platform by means of a 60-step stairway. An elevator is also available for use by infirm passengers, in emergencies and for the movement of baggage.

This was strenuously opposed by area residents, organizations and officials, all of whom argued that the remote location of the station was such as to invite vandalism if it were unattended and that passengers would be imperiled under such circumstances, especially those boarding or leaving late evening trains. They also argued that those needing the use of the elevator would be denied that service unless the station were manned.

Issues Report

Concerning this phase of the proceeding, Examiner Jacob I. Rothstein says, in a report to the Commission based on evidence received at a public hearing:

"The paramount concern here is the public need for a supervised station facility. The proposal to build a shelter on the station platform falls short of meeting that need. Furthermore, it would be virtually impracticable to build a shelter adequate for the needs of the passengers in the limited space available on the station platform."

With respect to the railroad's proposal to place its agent at Hudson in charge of freight business at Rhinecliff, Rothstein notes that the wages now paid the agents assigned to the station far exceed revenues received there from the handling of less-than-carload freight—the only local freight service for which a resident agent is required—and that they "can be dispensed with without seriously inconveniencing the public" as long as "the station building is retained and a responsible person continues to be on duty during the arrival and depature times of the scheduled trains" as required by the commission's 1960 order. He observes that the proposed change in the supervision of freight business "actually part of an overall plan for centralization of freight operation which has generally resulted in improved service."

By today's action, if the railroad elects to transfer jurisdiction over Rhinecliff freight business to its Hudson office, the change will also involve the non-agency, carload-only freight station at Staatsburg which is now supervised by the Rhinecliff agent.

$175,625 Coming As County Share From Fuel Taxes

Ulster County will receive $175,625.53 from the state as its share of the $7,222,191.57 in state motor fuel tax receipts marked for distribution to the 57 counties outside of New York City.

State Comptroller Arthur Levitt said today that the $7.2 million is the share of state - collected motor fuel tax for the three months ending March 31 which is being returned to the counties in accordance with the State Highway Law.

The law provides that 10 per cent of the statewide collection of the state's gasoline tax and the tax on diesel motor fuel are allotted to the counties on the proportional basis of county road and town highway mileage in each county. The money is earmarked by statute for deposit in the county road funds.

The amount distributed to the 57 counties in April of 1962 was $5,138,323.65.

Report Troy Man Critical After Red Hook Crash

Injured at 1:30 a. m. today when his automobile went out of control, sheered off a utility pole and crashed headon into a tree off Old Post Road, Red Hook, Carl E. Isager, 33, of 419 Eighth Avenue, Troy, was reported in critical condition.

Rhinebeck State Police said Isager was traveling north when his car left the left side of the road at the intersection of Route 9. The vehicle snapped off a utility pole and hit a tree headon.

The driver was taken to Vassar Hospital, Poughkeepsie, by the Red Hook Rescue Squad. He suffered severe head and chest injuries, troopers said.

Charges Tapes

what it says was a conversation between De Masi and the brothers as the money was being exchanged. The recording was arranged for after the brothers complained of the alleged deal to Hogan.

As the recording was played back in the courtroom Monday, jurors could hear the crispy, crackling sounds of what the prosecution said was the payoff money being counted by De Masi.

Stephen Wahrhaftig testified Tuesday that he was unsuccessful in recording two prior face-to-face conversations the brothers had with Mitchell.

In one conversation, it had been testified previously by Stephen Wahrhaftig, the city manager demanded $20,000 as a "political condition" to help pay for a Republican banquet in Newburgh.

The other time his recording machine failed, Wahrhaftig testified, was on Dec. 4 in Mitchell's office in Newburgh. On that occasion, the witness said, Mitchell told him—while the machine was recording nothing—that "it would be no less, no more than $20,000" because the city manager had "his own commitments."

The recording incidents were described while Wahrhaftig was under cross-examination by Maloney. The defense attorney took the position that the conversations actually were taped but the witness destroyed the recordings because they would have benefited Mitchell's case.

DeGaulle Foes Seized

MARSEILLE, France (AP) — Police announced today the arrest of 14 persons belonging to the anti-De Gaulle Secret Army Organization. Weapons, ammunition and a radio transmitter were also seized.

Lake Minnewaska Is Opening on April 12

The Lake Minnewaska gatehouse is on the Minnewaska Trail, US 44, NY 55, which crosses the Shawangunk Mountains from Poughkeepsie to Kerhonkson. It is one of the state's scenic highways.

The Cliff House was built by Alfred H. Smiley in 1879, was enlarged a few years later and in 1887 Wildmere House was opened. It was enlarged to its present size in 1910 and last year the 81 rooms were redecorated and tiled baths added.

Lake Minnewaska property contains over 10,000 acres. There are three lakes, six waterfalls, 50 miles of carriage roads for surreys or saddle horses, and a golf course.

Schools Closing For Easter Days, Good Friday Data

On Friday many of the churches in Kingston will observe Good Friday with services from noon until 3 p. m.

The Kingston City Library will close at noon and many Kingston stores will close from noon to 3 p. m. to allow employes to attend worship.

Good Friday is not a bank holiday and banks will remain open as usual as will county offices. There is also no restriction on taverns under the Alcoholic Beverage Control Law as there are on some holidays. Closing of taverns for sale of alcoholic beverages is "optional" it was stated at the local ABC Board office.

Although county offices are not closed, many of the county officials grant employes time to attend church services.

All city offices with the exception of the Police and Fire Departments will close at 12 noon.

Truckers Hurt In Greene Mishaps

Two truck drivers were injured Tuesday in separate accidents which occurred on Route 23A, Town of Catskill, according to Leeds State Police.

Trooper G. A. Murphy reported Joseph Nangle, 40, of 10 North Jefferson Street, Catskill, was driving a 1949 pickup truck north on a left curve when an unidentified vehicle forced the truck into a ditch where it overturned.

Nangle lost one tooth and received contusions, troopers said. The mishap occurred at 12:15 p. m. yesterday.

At 9:30 p. m. Tuesday, Thomas Charles Clark, 25, of 27 Drummond Street, Catskill, was driving a 1962 pickup truck east on Route 23A west of Route 9W, when the vehicle went off the right shoulder after knocking down 15 to 20 guard posts. The truck flipped over, coming to a stop on its wheels.

Clark was treated at Greene County Memorial Hospital for injuries of the hip and multiple contusions and abrasions of the face and body. Troopers R. L. Cure and R. A. Marconi investigated.

Officers for the ensuing year will be nominated, and arrangements completed for the annual banquet scheduled April 20 at 7 p. m. in the Pine Grove Hotel, Kerhonkson.

Woolley Improves

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Veteran actor Monty Woolley's condition was described today as "improved, but still critical," reportedly because of a heart ailment.

Woolley, 74, a resident of Saratoga Springs, was transferred Monday to Albany Medical Center Hospital from Saratoga Hospital.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — Steels led the stock market upward in early trading today. Trading was fairly heavy.

Steel stocks picked up major fractions to a little more than a point in response to the overnight move of Wheeling Steel. The nation's eleventh largest producer raised nearly all prices $4.50 to $10 a ton effective today, just a year after the abortive steel price increase of 1962.

Other early gains were mostly by small fractions although some of the wide movers were up 2 or 3 points.

Market analysts anticipated the Wheeling price increase might touch off a general advance because of its inflationary implications.

Wheeling was first traded about half an hour after the market opened, up 1⅜ at 32¾ on 1,700 shares. Youngstown Sheet and Tube and Jones & Laughlin were higher by about 1.

Metals, rails, oils and tobaccos were mostly higher.

Motors were mixed with GM and Ford off small fractions and the others higher by a bit. Aircrafts and electronics were mostly down a little.

May Avert Full Closing of Creek Span, Is Report

Charles Montafia, chairman of the Port Ewen Businessmen's Association Bridge Committee, today announced that a conference with M. N. Sinacori, District Engineer of the New York State Department of Public Works, was held in Poughkeepsie Tuesday afternoon relative to the proposed temporary closing of the Rondout Creek bridge while certain repairs would be made.

As a result of the conference it appeared that a complete closing of the bridge could be averted if the proposed arterial system to be constructed in connection with Kingston's Broadway East Urban Renewal Project, could be gotten underway as soon as all interested agencies have given approval of the planning involved.

A "second look" may be taken of the safety factors involved if sufficient interest continues on the part of those most directly affected by any closing.

Montafia said that the Port Ewen Businessmen's Association would continue its interest in the matter as well as its cooperation with all interested groups.

In attendance at the meeting in Poughkeepsie Tuesday were Chairman Montafia with Warren K. Dunham, president of the association, and Ar[illegible] Ellsworth association member. Alderman Frank Sass represented the Kingston Common Council's Bridge Committee and representing the Town of Esopus town board were Supervisor Roger Mabie, Justice of the Peace Allan Dargie, Town Attorney Charles Gaffney and Superintendent of Highways Paul Mercier.

Supervisors Will Meet April 16

There will be no meeting of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors Thursday night.

In 1954 Supervisor Joseph Turck, 4th Ward, offered a resolution that there be no meetings of the board held during Holy Week. The resolution was unanimously adopted.

Today Chairman Jesse McHugh (R), Shawangunk, postponed the meeting scheduled for tomorrow night until next Tuesday at 8 p. m., after the resolution calling for no meetings during Holy Week was called to his attention.

On the agenda for the next meeting is the appointment of a trustee for the Community College to replace Fabian L. Russell of Saugerties, resigned. It is expected the committee will recommend the appointment of Reginald Every of Mt. Tremper, a former supervisor.

Action on acquiring temporary quarters for county departments which are being moved from buildings to be demolished for the new Main Street county office building, also is expected to be taken up.

Mediators Due

To Re-enter Thailand

The SEATO plans call for allied troops to re-enter Thailand, which shares a 1,000-mile border with Laos, for ground maneuvers. They were there last year for similar "stop, look and listen" warnings to the Reds.

SEATO navies also scheduled massive air and sea training strikes in the South China Sea—the biggest ever held there—with the U.S. 7th Fleet heading a beefed-up task force.

Adm. Harry Felt, commander of U.S. naval forces in the Pacific, was in Paris coordinating plans with other SEATO leaders present for the annual ministerial conference.

As co-chairmen of the Geneva conference on Laos, the Soviet Union and Britain have the prime responsibility for keeping the peace.

U.S. strategists in Washington were hopeful that the Soviet Union and Communist China would find it to their own interests to halt the fighting in Laos. The Americans believe that neither of the major red powers wants to take big risks in Southeast Asia.

Unwise to Hold Stocks Just to Avoid Big Tax

Q) "Should I sell all or part of my IBM and invest in Reynolds Tobacco or some other higher yielding stock? I don't particularly need income and have other stocks of good quality. If I sell, I would be subject to a big capital gains tax." P. S.

A) You sound like a man of good common sense so I feel sure you will understand me when I say that no one should ever hold a stock solely to avoid paying a capital gains tax. I have known such a policy to be very costly—indeed, in many instances.

With that off my chest, I'm going to advise you to hold your IBM. The yield is low and the multiple is high and I don't think the shares are going to get anywhere for a while. Nevertheless, this is one of the two or three best growth situations we have, and in your fortunate position, it seems to me that patience will pay off.

Q) "I am a widow 63 years old, living alone. Can you inform me why it should be better to have a mortgage on a home, as friends inform me? Would you advise me to sell my home and rent a place? I have always lived in a one-family house, never renting. Finally, if your patience is not exhausted, what do you think of American Electric Power, American Telephone and Standard of New Jersey?" B. M.

A) My patience is never exhausted, particularly with a nice person like yourself who has problems.

There is an old real estate shibboleth which maintains that a home with a mortgage on it is more marketable than one without. I have never found that to be true, in any event, I see no reason why you should sell your home and change the way of life you have kept for over 60 years.

And finally, I like your stock selections very much.

To Make Restitution

William Rickett, 49, of 20 Lower Byrdcliffe Road, Woodstock, was arrested on a warrant by County Investigator Thomas Mayone on a larceny charge. It was charged he passed a check for $20 at the Pantry Market, Port Ewen, Jan. 10, without sufficient funds to meet it. Rickett, a carpenter, was arraigned Tuesday before Justice of the Peace Allan Dargie of Town of Esopus where he was directed to make restitution, was given a 10-day jail sentence and placed on probation for two years.

EMPLOYMENT

NOTICE TO JOB APPLICANTS
The Kingston Daily Freeman does not knowingly accept help wanted advertisments from employers covered by the Federal Wage-Hour Law if they offer less than legal minimum wages. Beginning September 3, 1961, employees engaged in interstate or foreign commerce or in the production of goods for such commerce must be paid not less than $1.15 an hour and at least time and one-half for hours worked after 40 in a workweek, unless specifically exempt. Employees of certain large retail, service, construction, and other enterprises must be paid not less than $1.00 an hour after September 3, 1961, but no overtime for such employment is required until September 3, 1963. If you are offered less by covered employers, or if you have questions concerning this law or other activities of the U. S. Department of Labor, call or write the Department's local office at Bronx: Abraham Klainbard, investigation Supr., 881 Gerard Ave., Bronx, N. Y. WYandotte 2-1235.

The Weather

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 10, 1963

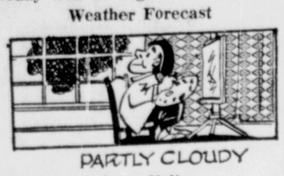

Sun rises at 5:25 a. m.; sun sets at 6:30 p. m., EST.

Weather: Mostly cloudy, cold.

The Temperature

The lowest temperature recorded on The Freeman thermometer during the night was 36 degrees. The highest figure recorded up to noon today was 44 degrees.

Weather Forecast

Lower Hudson Valley:

Mostly cloudy, windy and rather cold this afternoon. A few snow flurries or light showers likely, mainly over higher terrain. High, 46-52. Partial clearing with diminishing winds tonight. Continued rather cold with low in 20s. Mostly sunny, not so windy and somewhat warmer Thursday. High in 50s. West to northwest winds, 15-35, this afternoon diminishing tonight.

Mohawk Valley and Northeastern New York:

Mostly cloudy, cold and windy with occasional snow flurries this afternoon. High, mid 30s-low 40s. Cloudiness, flurries and winds diminishing late tonight. Continued cold. Low in 20s. Variable clouds and sunshine Thursday and not quite so cold or windy. Still chance of scattered snow flurries. High mainly in 40s. West to northwest winds, 15-35, today diminishing tonight.

Western Catskills and Upper Hudson Valley:

Mostly cloudy, windy and cold with occasional snow flurries this afternoon. High, 38-45. Partial clearing tonight with snow flurries ending and diminishing winds. Low in 20s. Variable clouds and sunshine Thursday. Breezy and not quite as cold. High upper 40s and low 50s. West to northwest winds, 15-35, today diminishing tonight.

Western New York, Northern and Southern Finger Lakes, East of Lake Ontario:

Mostly cloudy, windy and cold with snow flurries and some intervals of partial clearing this afternoon and tonight. High, 35-40. Low tonight around 30, colder some valleys.

Report Light Snow In County Sections

Light snow fell in the mountain areas of Ulster County during the night with less than an inch reported at Belleayre Ski Center and areas near Ellenville.

Light showers were reported in the lower Hudson Valley and Westchester.

Seized Patients From HRSH Will Face Grand Jury

Three Hudson River State Hospital patients, who escaped from an institution building Saturday, and were apprehended after a wild police chase through Poughkeepsie streets, will face grand jury investigation.

After their apprehension, the trio underwent examinations at the state hospital and later Dr. Herman B. Snow, director, reported the three patients were found to be legally sane. They were turned over to Town of Poughkeepsie police.

The patients, Charles Thomas, 31, formerly of North Carolina; Bruce Greiner, 16, of 42 West Bridge Street, Catskill, and Charles Thompson, of Altamont, were arraigned before Justice of the Peace George C. Dietz, who ordered them held for grand jury action.

Dr. Snow said the patients had been in a closed ward and escaped by removing bars on a window during change of shifts of attendants.

Thompson also was charged with driving an unregistered motor vehicle. The three were held on charges of second degree grand larceny involving the theft of a car owned by Peter Inserillo, South Road, Town of Poughkeepsie.

The car was extensively damaged when it crashed into a tree as the trio attempted to escape police who participated in a chase.

Main St. Parking Lot Is Closed as Test Borings Made

The Main Street parking lot was closed for parking today when test borings for the new county office building were commenced.

At the last meeting of the board of supervisors on March 14, a contract was awarded to the Giles Drilling Company to make test borings at a cost of $950. The board at the same time engaged Daniel C. Kline of Woodstock to conduct a topographical survey of the site.

Test borings are necessary to ascertain the sub-soil conditions, preparatory to advertising for construction of the building.

Cool Day Looms For Easter Walk

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The extended forecast, prepared by the U.S. Weather Bureau, for the period from 7 p.m. today to 7 p.m. Monday:

Eastern New York—Unseasonably cold weather will continue with temperatures averaging about 5 degrees below normal. Very little day-to-day change indicated. Light precipitation expected. Fairly good chance of rain mixed with snow by late Friday and Saturday. Weather Sunday still uncertain, but very likely cool.

Western New York—Relatively cool, dry weather indicated through early next week with temperatures averaging 4 to 6 degrees below normal. Slow, warming trend to near normal over weekend indicated, followed by a turn to colder again early next week. Precipitation will average two-tenths inch or less as few snow flurries Thursday and some widely scattered showers over weekend.

Temperature normals—Daytime highs 49-55; nighttime lows 29-36.

No Cause for Action

A jury in Supreme Court Tuesday afternoon returned a verdict of no cause for action in a negligence action brought by Helen Kouvarides againt Anthony Cacchio, an action arising out of a fall of plaintiff at the Rosendale Theatre. William P. Curran appeared for plaintiff and Cook and Cook by Francis X. Tucker for defendant. The action was tried in Supreme Court before Justice Lawrence H. Cooke.

Parents Advised On Giving Live Pets to Children

The president of the Ulster County Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals today urged the public to refrain from giving baby chicks, ducklings, rabbits and other baby animals to children for pets at Easter time.

Mrs. Katherine Stoutenburgh said this was the policy of all humane societies.

The baby animals "have no defense," Mrs. Stoutenburgh said. She said, "Of the thousands sold for pets and basket decorations at Easter, 90 per cent will die a miserable death — from starvation, from cold or by being squeezed to death."

The remainder of Mrs. Stoutenburgh's statement:

"Few people, especially city dwellers, know that baby chicks require temperature of from 75 to 90 degrees for the first few weeks. Few parents teach their children how to handle or care for these so-called pets, and do not want them anyway. Many communities have ordinances against selling this type of pet.

"Incidentally, the stuffed ducklings and chicks that look so realistic, are real. These pathetic little creatures are impaled, live, on a pointed hollow tube. One operation blows out the intestines and blows in the stuffing materials. It seems rather ironic, that at Easter time so many of these hapless little creatures should have to suffer and die, to provide toys and decorate baskets. They really are not very decorative when one knows their story.

So this year, let us all buy toys for our children instead of live baby chicks, or animals, unless we intend to keep and care for them."

Quarantine Tabled

Dutchess County Board of Supervisors tabled until fall, consideration of a county dog quarantine to protect deer and other wildlife during winter snow conditions. Board members plan discussions with State Conservation Department officials to determine effective measures to stop the destruction of deer by dogs.

Farmers Accept Cropland Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Kennedy administration's successor to the Eisenhower administration soil bank plan has been accepted by farmers to the full extent of federal funds provided.

The successor to the soil bank is a cropland diversion program designed to convert to other uses, such as grass, forests, recreation and other long-time non-crop uses. The soil bank plan offered payments to farmers idling cropland. The new plan emphasizes an alternative use.

More than 4,100 farmers in 41 test counties in 13 states have filed applications to convert 205,000 acres of cropland to other uses. The test plan is limited to $10 million this year. Soil bank payments range in excess of $300 million in some years.

Held for Jury Action

Burton Davis, 38, Town of Hardenbergh mason, was arrested by state police Tuesday on a charge of illegally discharging a firearm. Before Justice of the Peace Benn L. Fuller he was held for grand action and remanded to jail.

HERMAN J. EATON C.L.U. Answers Your Insurance Questions

QUESTION: Should a fur coat be insured all by itself or is it all right to include it with other items of personal property?

ANSWER: It depends on many things—the value of the coat, value of other property you want to insure and the hazards you want protection from. Better see a good insurance agent and explain your exact circumstances. Many insurance policies give protection for all your personal possessions.

This public service is our way of advertising. Your insurance questions will be answered without charge or obligation if you'll send or bring them to
